LOVE ARRIVES IN PLANE FROM NEW YORK

Lindbergh Tells Rogers His Secret Destination, East

(Special To The News)

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., July 31.—Flew into a Los Angeles Airport this morning to wait till the fog raised to get over to another one at Santa Monico, when all at once a plane dropped down through fog that was thicker than smoke in a presidential nominating room.

And who crawled out of the thing but the kid himself, Lindbergh. Fog don't stop that lad.

I asked him where he was going and he told me, "confidentially, east."

Say, what do you know about my old friend, William Randolph White? He asked Al a question and Al didn't answer.

When they get Al to hesitating on an answer why he looks bad. Many a public man wishes there was a law to burn old records.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Traffic in coal is extensive at the present time. On the main line railroads going through this city, great trains of loaded coal cars are to be seen many times daily going towards the lakes.

Announcement of Robert J. Tully, superintendent of the Carnegie Steel plant here that the big industry is to operate every day, is another bit of pleasing news to New Castleites. With the tin plants operating more than the normal rate and with the big steel mill going at capacity, there is no indication of summer dullness in industry in this city.

Patrons of the new auto bus line on Grant street report that the condition of the paving on this thoroughfare is such that the ride is a most "bumpy" one. Some attention will have to be given to resurfacing this street in the near future.

Probably the rainy season is over for a time. There have been no storms for a few days, and farmers are getting a chance to do some harvesting. Likewise the amateur baseball artists are taking advantage of the break in weather conditions.

Daylight savings time does one thing. It gets a lot of people up these mornings in time to appreciate the beauties of the early morning. And by the way, New Castle's daylight savings period is two-thirds over. The daylight time savings era ends in New Castle with the close of August, this year.

Workmen are now engaged in the work of preparing to pave Norwood avenue. This street will be paved as a connecting link between the new paving on Albert street and Highland avenue.

The last touches have been placed on the North Mercer street sidewalk and paving improvement at Washington street, and the sidewalk was open for traffic around the bank corner last night. Likewise the curb lighting system on North Mercer street has been completed at this corner. The bank building is steadily nearing completion and it will not be long until this magnificent new structure is completed.

Some expert attention seems to be needed for the various traffic regulation lights about this city, of late. A number of the lights have been noted by Pa Newc that were faulty in their operation. Perhaps they have been repaired. There is nothing that is as dangerous as a faulty signal light system.

Amateur gardeners seem to get the most pleasure out of life. All evening they work, giving that one last touch to the things growing in their back yards. Then, when it is too dark for them to see, they sit on the back steps with friend wife, and talk of this and that and the other thing. Even the young benedicts, the ones who were married this year, seem to have a penchant for the earth earthy, and such things.

Pa Newc took a ride in the police patrol wagon Monday afternoon. It is a car that is seldom used, now that the department has acquired two touring cars. But the other cars were out when the call came in: a drunk was disturbing the peace. A wild

New Castle Man Rides Own Plane From Metropolis

Makes Hop From New York To New Castle In Five Hours Today

FAMOUS FLIER ACCOMPANIES HIM

Mr. Love Plans To Learn To Use Plane For Trips As He Would Auto

Robert C. Love, well-known banker of this city, who is the first local resident to own and fly an airplane for non-commercial purposes in this city, arrived home this morning at nine o'clock at the McMillen field on the Harlansburg road in his own plane, and accompanied by Captain Ronald Smith, famous British war pilot, now known as one of the best in this country. The latter will remain in this city for several weeks for the purpose of furthering the expectations of Mr. Love to fly his own ship in the course of the next few weeks.

Make Trip in Five Hours

Mr. Love and Captain Smith left Curtiss field, New York, about four o'clock this morning for this city, arriving here at nine a. m. The trip, according to Mr. Love, was most delightful, who had the unusual experience of becoming sunburned in crossing over the mountains, and yet being very cold.

The ship purchased by Mr. Love and flown home today is an Avro Avian, made in England by A. V. Roe & Company. He secured it in New York from Air Associates, Inc., of New York, representatives in this country for this ship, the very latest word in a small sport model biplane.

It is equipped with the Handley-Paige slotted wings, which is a new English invention, which prevents the ship from going into a tail-spin or crashing to the earth if the motor stalls.

Ship Is Safe

According to Mr. Love, the ship is

Labor Council Majority Will Support Hoover

Poll Of Executive Council Of Labor Federation Shows Hoover Is Favorite

FOUR MEMBERS ARE SMITH BOOSTERS

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 31.—Confronted with the most difficult political decision in its history, the executive council of the American Federation of Labor met here today to formulate its recommendations for the Presidential campaign.

A majority of the council of 12 favor Herbert Hoover, according to an individual poll of the membership today by International News Service. But four members came to this seashore resort determined to champion the light wine and beer plank, repeatedly adopted by the federation convention every year since 1920, and to fight for an emphatic endorsement of the legislative labor record of Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York.

Present Reports

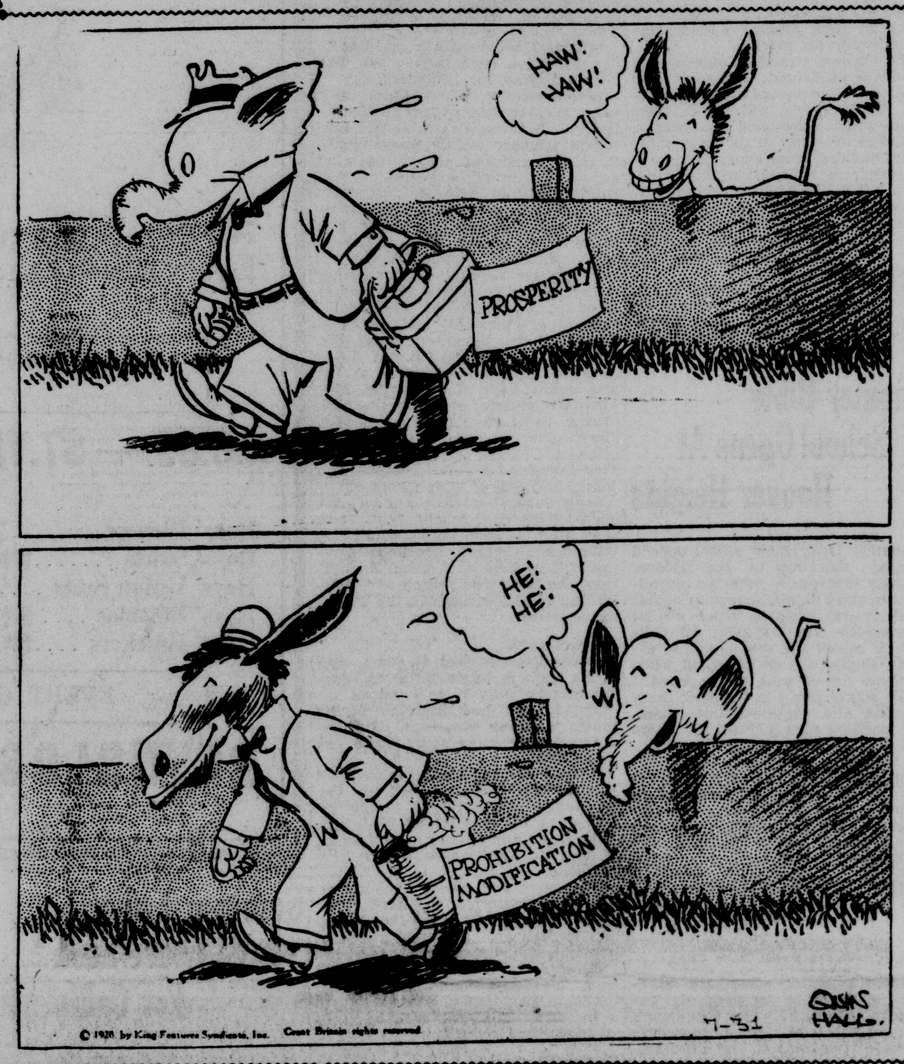

The non-partisan political committee of the federation, consisting of five members, all of whom attended both the Kansas City and Houston conventions, submitted for its report a straightforward narrative of its experience at the convention cities and a recital of the labor plank in each platform.

This report will be passed on to the membership of the federation for its guidance in the election.

The report of the non-partisan committee was unanimously approved by President William Green of the federation, Matthew Woll and Martin F. Ryan, vice presidents; Frank Morrison, secretary, and James M.

The Pail Campaign

THIEVES ENTER SEVERAL HOMES ALONG MT. JACKSON ROAD

Mr. Jackson road families are on the lookout for the persons committing the petty thefts in the past week. Three homes have been entered and in two of these cases articles were stolen.

A week ago the home of Harry Cameron in Sunnyside was entered by two negroes. Mr. Cameron, who happened on the scene, drove the marauders away with a gun. Friday evening the home of W. H. Burgett was entered and canned fruit, chickens and harness from the barn were stolen. Sunday evening the home of I. E. Swisher was entered and a purse of money and jewelry were stolen.

For the past year throughout the neighborhood petty thievery and chicken stealing has been in vogue. Hardly any one in the vicinity has not had something stolen by the night prowlers who seemingly come from a distance in cars and leave no clue.

Several residents have lost tires, a car was stolen and many chickens have been made away with in the past season.

George Brennan Is Near Death

Democratic Committeeman Of Illinois Seriously Ill With Septic Poisoning

LITTLE HOPE IS HELD FOR RECOVERY

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, July 31.—George F. Brennan, Democratic committeeman for Illinois and close friend of presidential nominee Al Smith, today was reported near death from septic poisoning.

He was stricken last Thursday following the extraction of two ulcerated teeth. The poison spread to the glands of his throat. This condition became further complicated by diabetes and pneumonia, according to his physician.

After a consultation of six prominent surgeons an emergency operation was performed last night to remove some of the poison gathered in the lymphatic gland.

Oxygen was being administered today to keep the stricken leader alive. Because of his age—63—physicians hold little hope for his recovery.

Last rites of the Catholic church were administered before the operation. Mr. Brennan remains conscious and realizes he is fighting death. Gathered at his bedside are his wife and only child, a daughter, Mary, and several friends, including former Mayor William E. Dever.

Tax Collectors Are Defendants

Former County Treasurer Enters Suit Against 18 Former Collectors

SEEKS TO RECOVER FEES PAID THEM

Echoes of 1920-21, when the then county auditors surcharged the then County Treasurer C. Lee Horner with the additional five percent fee on the tax duplicate of the delinquent taxes collected by the tax collectors of the various townships and other districts of the county, were heard today in the filing at the office of the prothonotary by Horner's attorneys of eighteen suits against various tax collectors of those years and their bondsmen, to recover the surcharged amounts, which Horner was required to pay back to the county, for the benefit of C. Lee Horner, former treasurer and now a resident of Los Angeles, Cal.

These suits are in addition to two others brought some time ago against Ed Umbright and others for the same purpose and on which no decision has yet been handed down.

The amount involved in the some twenty suits is between $4,000 and $5,000 and represents the amount that the county recovered in 1920 and 1921 from the then treasurer, C. Lee Horner as a result of the surcharge made by the auditors.

It had been customary up until that time to allow the delinquent tax collectors five percent on the tax duplicates handed over to them for collection and also the five percent penalty that is added September 1.

The auditors took the stand on the advice of their counsel, that the collectors were entitled under the law to only the five percent penalty and not to the additional five percent on the duplicate which they collected.

Auditors Upheld.

Mr Horner at that time appealed from the surcharge to the local court, on the ground that it had been the custom for 50 or 60 years and that he was only following an established custom. The local court ruled in his favor. The auditors carried it to the Supreme court, which reversed the lower court and upheld the action of the auditors. This effected taxes col-

TUNNEY DECLARES HE IS THROUGH

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 31.—Gene Tunney is through with boxing. He said so himself today.

The long expected announcement materialized at a luncheon given boxing writers at the Biltmore by Tunney.

Gene stated his reasons very fully. There is no contender capable of attracting a large purse; it would be two or three years before another is developed and that is too long for him to wait, and so he "steps aside."

"May the best man win," he says in his swan song.

"To the victor belongs the spoils," he echoes, and that may mean the return of the redoubtable Dempsey, but Gene doesn't say that.

To show his admiration for the game that brought him from a humble shipping clerk to the estate of a millionaire, Gentleman Gene will offer a championship belt to go to the winner of an elimination tournament.

As to his future plans Tunney is less definite. He is still young, he avers, and will start anew in another "line of business." Whether this business is to be matrimony, the stage, films, stocks and bonds or the pursuit of literary endeavors, he fails to state.

Admiration for the game and a bow in the direction of Tex Rickard are other features of this quite unique retirement communique.

If he were to fight again (and they

Herbert Hoover Determined To Land Big Fish

Steelhead Trout Play Hide-And-Seek With Republican Presidential Nominee

STARTS OUT EARLY WITH CONFIDENCE

(International News Service)

BROWN'S CAMP, KLAMATH RIVER, NEAR HORNBOOK, Cal., July 31.—Isolated from the political world in a fishing camp, high in the Siskiyou range, Herbert Hoover today sought desperately to land his first catch of the trip.

The Republican nominee for president travelled 615 miles by motor car, fished in two icy mountain streams, and has yet to catch a fish. He arose with the dawn this morning, ate a hurried breakfast and disappeared up the river valley for the third time. His trip north from Palo Alto was taken to land some steelhead mountain trout and to get recreation.

If the nominee should fail today, his party will probably break camp and move on to another stream. Some of his friends have urged him to visit the Pitt river within sight of Mount Shasta. Should he land a good catch there, however, the party will remain on the Klamath until tomorrow night, when Hoover will board a train at Hornbrook for San Francisco. Should he visit the Pitt river he will leave here tomorrow night in time to reach his home at Palo Alto Thursday morning.

White Says Smith's Record In Assembly Shows He Voted For Saloon

By RAYMOND I. BORST
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., July 31.—When Governor Al Smith winds up his brief vacation on Long Island tomorrow and returns to New York he is expected to seek the advice of National Chairman John J. Raskob and Senator Peter G. Gerry, chairman of the Democratic advisory committee, as to whether he should answer or ignore the latest attack by William Allen White, Kansas editor.

The governor's present intention is not to pay any attention to White's charge that when he, Smith, was a young assemblyman he always voted to protect the saloon and the liquor traffic. However, if Raskob and some of his other close advisers are of the opinion that he should return White's fire, he will do so in the usual Smith manner without mincing words.

According to close friends of Smith, he feels that the Rev. O. R. Miller of Albany, superintendent of the New York State Civic League, and editor of the "Reform Bulletin", is to blame for the White attack.

In Albany recently the governor asserted that "White should have had more brains than to take such bunk

(International News Service)

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., July 31.—Again defying the order of city authorities, picketing of the 56 textile mill units here continued today.

While 256 strike pickets and their sympathizers awaiting court arraignments by yelling and singing in their cells at police headquarters—eight and ten men being lodged in a single cell—the picket lines moved back and forward in front of the mill gates. At the Whitman mill 300 pickets and their sympathizers were out, 100 were at the gates of the Acushnet mill, smaller delegations marched in front of the other mills. Police predicted wholesale arrests late this afternoon.

City authorities had ruled that a single individual could go on picket duty at each mill but that more than that constituted a violation of the laws regarding loitering and especially that ordinance regarding parading without a permit.

The strike, called in protest to a 10 per cent wage cut, was in its 16th week and there was talk of arbitration on both sides.

Children of those arrested, some of them roaming the streets crying for their parents, were the pathetic figures among the police clubs and fixed bayonets of National Guardsmen as the patrols went up and down the principal streets keeping order following a hectic night.

Just for a while I would like to be back where the kids had their old swimming pool, just for a while I would like to go back and lay in that spot that's so cool. Just to dive off the board to the water below, just to tie some one's clothes in a knot, now that would be sport for a hot summer day, and I think you'll agree that its hot. And I want to go back to that old swimming pool, where the elders and grasses are lush, where a fellow ducked in with no swimming suit on, and the bath house was out in the brush. Yep I want to go back for an hour or so, to go back with the youngsters and play, just to dive off that board and swim doggy again, it's eighty-five today.

International News Service Staff Correspondent

OLYMPIC STADIUM, AMSTERDAM, July 31.—Ed. Hamm, Georgia Tech, established a new Olympic record of 25 feet 4¾ inches in assuring a lead over the field in the running board jump this afternoon. Hamm made a new world's record in the event in the official American trials at Cambridge, Mass., early this month.

United States wrestlers gave a good account of themselves in the preliminaries against foreign contenders in this morning's Olympic bouts. In the semi-final for bantams Robert Hewitt, of the University of Michigan beat Piguet, of Switzerland. Lloyd O. Appleton, of Cornell college, Iowa, defeated pranks, of Esthonia, in the quarter final for welterweights.

In the quarter final for lightweights Kapp, of Esthonia, beat Clarence Berryman, of Oklahoma. A. R. Morrison, of the University of Illinois, defeated Prhlajamkr, of Finland, on points in the semi-final for welterweights.

H. L. Edwards, of the United States Naval Adademy at Annapolis, beat the Belgian Vanaersee in the semi-final for light heavyweights. In this semi-final for heavyweights Ed George of the University of Michigan, won the decision over Ernlie, of Switerland.

Appleton beat Letchford, of Canada, in the semi-final for welterweights.

Ralph W. Hammonds, of the University of Texas, got the decision over Pekkala, of Finland, after five extra minutes in the semi-final for middleweights.

And from the central part of the state vacationists come back with tales of brown trout some 22 inches long, which had to be thrown back because the said vacationists were fishing for bass. O death!

"Spunky" Edwards of Fontaine Fox fame may have a novel radiator cap with his newly acquired monkey, but down on the diamond in front of the Fountain Inn, a motorist had a nice fat Thomas cat for an ornament. A motorist complained that one day he had just shined his car and the cat perched up on his hood spotting the new shine.

For a few minutes Monday afternoon the traffic lights on the downtown streets were out. Officers directed the flow of traffic. Then the lights came on, this time operated automatically. And now, no longer will members of the traffic squad have to sit by the control box, changing the lights by hand.

For the past few years the condition of the street crossing over street car tracks at the intersection of Allen street and Cunningham avenue has been the same and the same means that it has been terrible. It wouldn't take long to fix it and besides it hasn't been repaired for a long, long time.

The school departments are working hard this summer. Out at Ben Franklin they are making furniture and Superintendent of Buildings Ligo has improvements going on at every school. A lot of painting has been done and a little piece of construction down at the Lawrence school will take care of the occasional freshets that cause a washout down there.

Most all of the New Castle delegates to the 36th national convention of the Young People's Christian Union of the United Presbyterian church returned from Conneaut Lake park today, where the sessions of the convention were held. Quite a large number of young people from the local churches of that denomination attended the meetings. The convention adjourned last night after Daniel A. Talk with Raskob

The governor also is expected to have a talk with Raskob on some of the campaign issues with which he will deal extensively in the address he will deliver on August 22 in formally accepting the Presidential nomination. He has let it be known that a considerable part of his speech will center around prohibition and farm relief.

The confidence expressed by Smith that he will carry the southern states, despite reported deflections in the Democratic ranks, is based, it was learned today, on information furnished Chairman Raskob within the last few days by party leaders from south of the Mason-Dixon line.

Indications are, however, that the governor plans to carry his campaign into some of the border states.

The governor is making most of the first brief vacation he has had since he was nominated. He is making up for some lost sleep, but he also is getting plenty of exercise swimming and playing golf.

The tax collectors had already received the money and made their returns and there is no other method left open to attempt recovery except by the suits entered. The question, it is anticipated, will hinge largely on the fact that Horner had receipted to the collectors sued and whether he has the right to recover in spite of this fact.

The suits entered in behalf of Mr. Horner are against the following collectors and bondsmen: William M. Keys, John W. Grimes, James E. Guy and John Tillia; W. J. Allen, N. C Allen and C. L. Hunt; R. Italia Survivors Arrive In Italy

WILL GO DIRECT TO THEIR HOMES

(International News Service)

ROME, July 31.—Gen. Umberto Nobile and his fellow survivors of the Italia disaster crossed the Italian frontier into their homeland this morning. At Verona they were welcomed by Commandant Pierozzi in behalf of Rear Admiral Ciriani, under minister for marine.

The Italians traveled quietly and there was no demonstration at the frontier. It is expected that the members of the party will go to their homes until summoned by Premier Mussolini to testify in the inquiry into the ill-fated Polar expedition.

A telegram from Milan said that, when Lieut. A. Viglieri arrived enroute for his home town, he was greeted with the utmost enthusiasm. Girls hung garlands round his neck and kissed him, while the populace hailed him as a hero.

Viglieri was left in command of the Nobile party on an ice floe off the Spitzbergen coast when Gen Nobile himself was rescued by Swedish aviator Lundborg on June 24.

In announcing his retirement, Tunney said in part:—

"Boxing is a game which, properly conducted, teaches and develops such qualities as stamina, confidence, patience, self-denial, bodily fitness, mental alertness and courage.

"I have great affection for boxing and one of my chief desires has been to leave the game better than I found it. I have tried to be not only champion, but a sportsman.

"But the time had come when professional boxing can offer me nothing further than I desire. I am putting it behind me, grateful for benefits conferred, but with the feeling that I am yet young enough to make a new start in other fields.

"There is no contender at the present time who appears capable of attracting real public interest. If there were I might delay my retirement long enough to face him in the ring, but it looks as if it might be two or three years before a dangerous opponent is developed. That is too long to stand and wait.

"If I had fought again it would have been for Tex Rickard. I regard him as the foremost boxing promoter of all times."

Deaths Of The Day

Mr. Cangey's Funeral.

Funeral services of Michael Cangey, 203 South Liberty street, were held Monday morning at St. Lucy's church. Solemn high requiem mass was held with Rev. Fr. M. Ippolito, the pastor as the celebrant and assisted by two other priests.

The display of flowers was unusually large, there being scores of expensive bouquets and floral designs. Following the service at the church, the funeral procession formed with the Christopher Columbus Society band at its head, also the committee from the society consisting of Albert Feicco, Frank Natale, Joe Lapore, Vito Lambiaso and James Zumbello.

Many members of the society also took part. It was one of the largest funerals ever held in the city with scores of automobiles being provided for friends and relatives. Interment was made in St. Lucy's cemetery, on West Clayton street.

Mrs. Katherine McDonald.

Mrs. Katherine Landfried McDonald, aged 58 years, wife of James McDonald, passed away at the family residence on Wilmington avenue on Tuesday morning at 7:30.

Mrs. McDonald's death was due to complications from which she had been suffering for two months.

Before coming to New Castle nine years ago she had resided in Transfer, Pa. She was a faithful and consistent member of the Shenango U. P. church and had always taken an active part in all activities of the church. Gifted with an unusually pleasing personality and fine Christian character, Mrs. McDonald had endeared herself to a host of friends in this city and community.

Besides her husband she leaves her father, Philip Landfried of Transfer; three sons, Phillip of Sharpsville, Prescott of Greenville and James at home and two daughters, Mrs. Sara Eckenrode of New Castle and Agnes at home. She also leaves four sisters, Mrs. John Miller of Clarksville, Mrs. Allen Diefenderfer of Greenville, Mrs. Frazier Scott of Transfer and Mrs. Mark Adams of Sharpsville, and five brothers, Charles, David, Samuel and Fred Landfried all of Greenville, and John Landfried of Green Ford, O.

just as safe as walking across a street, in fact, is more safe than attempting a heavy traffic thoroughfare. The wings work automatically, making the ship a truly safe mode of transportation. When trouble occurs, the wings right the plane and allow it to drift to safety on the earth.

Another feature of the ship is that the wings fold back in such a manner that the ship may be housed in an ordinary garage. It was placed in the McMillen barn as soon as it landed.

It is the same type of airplane that was brought back home by Miss Amelia Earhart, the female Lindy, who recently crossed the Atlantic to England. It is also the same type as used by Bert Hinckler in flying from England to Australia and by Lady Heath from London to Capetown.

To Use on Trips

Mr. Love plans to use it, as soon as licensed, the same as he would his automobile, flying to more distant points with ease and in a short time, and as he terms it, in perfect safety. The trip here was made in the early morning hours, because the air is quieter and smoother and travel is much more pleasant.

Captain Smith, who was persuaded by Mr. Love to accompany him here, will instruct the latter in the fine points of flying and also in the use of this ship. He has been flying for 15 years and never in that time crashed a plane, except while as a member of the Royal Flying Corps of England during the World War, when at a height of 4,000 feet his [illegible] struck and put out of commission by an anti-aircraft gun and his plane crashed to the ground. He was terribly injured, but survived and was able to return to flying with greater enthusiasm than ever. He was with the British forces the entire duration of the World War. During that time he was not only actively engaged in flying on the war front, but also in instructing many other British flyers, many of whom also became famous.

For the last few years he has been an instructor at Curtis field, N. Y., and has turned out many first-class pilots.

NO WORD FROM AMUNDSEN

ALMOST two months have passed since Roald Amundsen and his volunteer crew of five sailed away in a seaplane in an effort to locate and rescue Gen. Nobile and the crew of the dirigible, Italia, stranded somewhere in the Arctic ice fields.

The world hailed their start with joy and high hopes. It knew the skill and courage of the seasoned explorer, and counted on his knowledge of Arctic conditions to make his journey successful.

Days, weeks and now months have passed and no word has come from the Amundsen party. Searchers have traveled over wide fields trying to locate the men and the seaplane, but all returned empty handed. Where Amundsen and his men are, or were, what was their fate, all is included in the secret the Arctic holds in its keeping.

Other found and rescued Gen. Nobile and some of his men but found no trace of Amundsen. The Amundsen seaplane sailed away into the Arctic and disappeared. Somewhere in the Arctic disaster overtook them, what they may have suffered, what fate they met and where, is not known, may never be known.

Amundsen, brave and successful explorer, had fought conditions in the Arctic lands repeatedly, and had been victor. The regions he loved to explore were there, and in that country he may have met his fate. The long absence indicates the loss of the party. It is doubtful that supplies carried on the seaplane would be sufficient to sustain life for the long weeks. One is not a pessimist to conclude the Amundsen party has been lost in an effort to rescue a brother explorer. Each week argues the correctness of that conclusion.

A VACATION EXAMPLE

NEWS pictures taken of President Coolidge before his departure from Washington in June and since the establishment of his summer residence in the forests of Wisconsin furnish graphic proof that he is getting from his vacation something few vacationists get although in theory it is the very thing they are seeking. This elusive thing is a rest.

It is evident that Mr. Coolidge was in need of the rest he is capturing at Brule. He left Washington tired, haggard and nervous. Every newspaper photograph and dispatch from Cedar Island Lodge brings the news, most gratifying to every American, that he has set aside the cares of state for the moment and is permitting nothing to detract from his vacation pleasures. He is fortunate in having chosen for his vacation recreation the most restful and composing of sports—fishing.

Those who have never occupied a position of public trust do not always realize that the strain of the presidency makes itself felt upon the strongest constitution and affects even the most self-contained nature. It can shatter iron nerves and break the most vigorous body.

Than Calvin Coolidge, no president has been more faithful and conscientious in the performance of his duties, and few have accomplished more for the general welfare. The wholesome effect of his watchfulness and the persistence with which he has adhered to his policies have been felt in every home. He has a way of deciding great questions that make them seem commonplace and of little consequence, of doing difficult things in a way that makes them seem easy to the public. He never plays to the grandstand, though that is sometimes the easiest way.

This summer has provided at least one successful vacation.

A BOY MEETS AN OLD MAN

As I went out a strolling, a strolling down the road,
I chanced to see a grey-beard man who bore a heavy load.
Said I to him: "It's weary you plainly seem to be,
Old man, come rest yourself a bit and give your pack to me."

And as we walked together, the old man said to me:
"I never thought I'd sigh to have a boy for company.
I thought 'twas grand to fare alone and plod my selfish way
And quit my house whene'er I would, with none to bid me stay.

"I would not wed with woman fair, I feared her hold was strong;
I'd take no house to call my own, the lease might run too long.
And children needing this and that would mean that I must stay
To mind them all and guard the place and never run away.

"But now I am too old for sport; too weak to wish to roam,
And, oh, it's lonely through the day and lonely getting home.
For all alone I bear my pack, and sad's the lot of me,
With neither son nor daughter fair to keep me company."

AN UNCLEAN STORY—

Is a confession of spiritual poverty.
Never can be as funny as one that is clean.
Is a window through which the world can see a filthy soul.
Insults any good woman and disgusts any righteous man.
Is enjoyed only by those who enjoy dirt.
Never seems funny to the man who loves the wholesome things of life.

AND HOW.

A very strange phenomenon:
We find each face beneath the sun
So different.

Yet were it left to you and me
To make our own they all would be
So different.

The highway commissioner of Pennsylvania is going to set some speed traps to catch speeding busses. Busses have no more right to speed than an ox cart has. Neither have mail trucks and when it comes right down to it fire engines haven't either. This will also be news to taxicab drivers who may not believe it, but they have no right to speed either.

GETTING WORD TO MABEL.

One touch of nature has made all Baltimore smile. Somewhere in that city is a young man who had an engagement to meet a young woman at a certain street corner but found it impossible to keep the appointment. For some reason he could not reach her by telephone or other means and he dreaded the effect if she kept the tryst and waited in vain for him. What did he do? He did what prehistoric man probably did before him. With a piece of chalk he wrote in large letters on the stone wall of a building. "Mabel do not wait." No one with half an eye could miss the message. Baltimore believes Mabel didn't. The corner was deserted most of the day.

"You've been having a rough time" he exclaimed. "What's happened?"

"Nothing" replied Binks casually. "My wife's been pelting me with flowers. That's all.

"Flowers. But what sort of flowers were they to mark you up like that?"

"Just the ordinary kind only she forgot to remove them from the pots first."

It is expected that enough United States senators will be elected this fall to control the senate. In Texas by voting at the primaries a voter automatically pledges himself to support the nominee of his party at the fall election. The same rule is in effect in Pennsylvania but many think it a God-given right to bolt the ticket. No independent voter votes at a primary. He votes at the general election for some one he did not help to nominate or defeat at a primary. It's a vicious spirit to not stand by a party nominee at a primary if one claims to be a member of his party.

Women in politics and prohibtion will go through a severe test in the coming campaign. Women are expected to vote dry—and if they don't—well you know who they blame everything on.

Say, fellow citizens, what do you think of a bird who is sent up to the county jail and is refused admission because he is so dirty and lousy that he isn't good enough to get into the jail house? They have to burn the clothes of some of those birds and the county will not buy any more clothes for city prisoners sent there who are decaying.

Gov. Smith is against cigarettes. When he was in the New York legislature he introduced a bill providing for the putting into jail for six months any person caught rolling his own cigs. Iowa Democrats in their state convention passed a resolution demanding that Will Hays, czar of the movies be removed from his job. Japan, with the highest baby death rate in the world, appoints a government commission to remedy the evil. This nation, with the highest death rate of any civilized nation for mothers' in childbirth, does nothing to remedy the evil and disgrace.

But if there is mortality among calves or young pigs or their mothers we see to that.

Because of hold-up men and better banking facilities 4,700 employes of the United States Bureau of Engraving and Printing work on part time.

Those employes manufacture American money. When put in payrolls, our modern bandits steal it and shoot a few. Many firms now use checks instead of cash.

Last year, seven billion checks were drawn in this country, 70 checks for each 100,000,000 people.

Postmaster-General New broadcasts important facts concerning air travel.

Air mail had only one line, from New York to San Francisco, two years ago. Now it reaches cities and spreads out to Canada, Cuba, Panama and other Central American cities.

Government mail pilots fly 25,000 miles every day, the distance around the earth at the equator, and before the year ends daily air mail flights will have increased by 5,000 miles.

All this aircraft development is due to the post office, for which the people will be grateful.

Observe that the post office is government-owned and operated. Perhaps other useful developments would come if our 'best minds," which means our biggest pocketbooks, would allow government to extend its activities.

Much praised private ownership, represented by railroads, has not done much pioneering, although airplanes interest railroads, since they threaten dangerous competition.

A start in flying has been promised, however by the Pennsylvania and Santa Fe, and others will wake up, gradually. The New York Central plans a start.

Schools of investment for "ladies with a little money" are needed everywhere. Women inheriting money keep it. Then some kind adviser, a man, of course, gets it, or makes the owner lose it through his foolishness.

In New York, a nurse, 52 years old, about to retire from hard work, kills herself. Her life's savings had been lost in a mining swindle. Real estate sharks, oil sharks, all kinds of sharks, swindle women. They believe, poor things, what they want to believe, that they are to be made rich.

Women should not invest in what THEY DO NOT UNDERSTAND. They should not buy land that they have not seen, and having seen it, they should think it over, examine it several times, consult some skeptical friend, then wait a month, and see it again.

Don't believe fairy tales. Ask yourself, "Just how would I, actually make a living out of that land? Or, if it is to be sold at a profit, how do I know that I can sell it at a profit? And why doesn't the man keep it and take the huge profit himself?

If you are leaving money to wife or daughters, fix things so that no other man will be able to get it from them.

The only hope of the thirsty is for a change in Volstead's law and hope is faint. The real hope is the bootlegger, if you can swallow his merchandise.

Our innocent government is the bootleggers' best friend. It releases floods of pure alcohol, and is amazed to learn that 30,000 gallons here, 100,000 gallons there, go into bootleg whisky, not into perfumes or hair tonics.

Seventy-five Chicago gentlemen are said to have made $100,000,000 on such transactions. And because it would have embarrassed the government they said nothing about income taxes.

Merchants always have their troubles, even in prosperous times. In this country young gentlemen go bareheaded, thinking it manly or stylish, foolishly permitting ultra violet rays to batter their little brains.

In England the tax on a house was once fixed according to the number of windows it contained. The supposition was that the bigger the building the more windows. The law had to be changed, however, for the people began putting up structures with blank walls.

Dr. Crane's Editorial

WHEN MARY CUTS HER CURLS

The momentum of the human race is enormous.

Young people have an idea that the world wants to be reformed, that it is waiting for somebody to show us how to get rid of the difficulties that beset us.

But alas! The one thing that the world does not want to do is to change. The Chinese resents any innovation that conflicts with the customs of his ancestors. The Arab does not want to live in a house because his forbears always dwelt in tents. The deeds of our ancestors not only give us stability in remembering them, but they sometimes tangle the feet of progress.

The fundamentalist resents the proposals of the modernist. After all, about the best reason for our any action is like the reason given for having cold ham and hot beans at a church supper in Worcester, Mass. They always have had them.

Humanity thinks, perhaps not without reason, that it is better to bear the evils that we have than fly to others that we know not of.

It was a bold stroke when Henry Ford abandoned his model T and made a new one.

But all these questions fade into insignificance to the minds of millions of people, when they hear that Mary Pickford has cut her curls!

What does that mean?

Heretofore she has always worn ringlets and is known from Ponkapog to Pesth as a little girl. As such she has become the world's sweetheart.

Now she has grown up and will have to make her reputation all over again.

It is no little thing to scrap a fame that has been builded up with much care and to start out for a new one. It is a question in the minds of many whether she will hold her own in the new incarnation.

With those curls went reputation that means millions of dollars. Will her new reputation be as valuable? We hope it will, for every one we ever heard of is fond of Mary.

But the followers of John Alexander Dowie, who insist that the world is not round but flat, and all those who object to the new standpoint of evolution will doubtless raise the cry that we are lowering our standards.

Something or other is certain, we won't know what, but we feel that we are living in parlous times.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

ONE OF THE ADVANTAGES.

The advent of the motor car has brought in its train a great number of new things and new conditions; now comes the flying car and, Zowie!

The question of sub-soil rights in this country is well settled. But the advent of the aeroplane has brought a new question—that of air rights and trespassing on someone's air property. Air rights to a property extend up as far as a building can be erected and adjoining property owners cannot build over. But air trespassing brings in another angle.

An incident along this line is to be found in a certain town near an air field not many miles away. Mrs. X., a resident of the town is a woman of modern ideas, and during pleasant weather has been in the habit of taking sun baths on the roof of her home, a la nature. She was protected from the gaze of her neighbors but scarcely from a pilot. A plane happened over her home one day as she was sunning herself and hurried back to the air port.

On each pleasant day thereafter a plane or two would sail overhead, quite by chance of course, and the lady was driven indoors and deprived of her sun baths.

And that is only one new problem.

WHO'S TO GUIDE?

Transportation, communication and organization are three immense contributions that science has made to the world within the last century. It is loose thinking which leads anyone to believe that the mere addition of all sorts of conveniences and luxuries is of any lasting importance to man unless he has the cultivated sense to guide him in the use of his new tools. Science may turn the world into a marvelous toy shop in which bewildered man may lose his way and come to nothing.

NEWSPAPERS AND ADS

One of the most eminent advertising authorities in America, speaking at the recent convention of the International Advertising association, said: "Newspapers, during the past five years, have emerged triumphantly—meeting all kinds of competition, including radio and other new forms of advertising—to a surer, safer, sounder place in the sun of public appreciation."

Newspapers need have no fear of radio or any other advertising medium. Everything that promotes advertising and increases the volume of it helps the newspaper. For it is inevitably realized that the daily newspaper is the logical medium for carrying mercantile messages into the homes of people of all ranks in life. It is simply a logical and common sense development that has led producers of goods to use the newspaper more and more to get their preachment to the public.

REPUTATION

Vincent Kerens, son of a rich St. Louis man who died some years ago, has finally come into about $2,000,000 worth of his father's estate. His father's will stipulated that the boy was to get nothing but a monthly allowance until "of his own free will and desire he has passed five consecutive years of sobriety and good behavior." The young man has proved to the satisfaction of a trust company that he has lived up to the terms.

Many young men would be willing to pass five years in sobriety and good behavior if they knew that by so doing they were coming into an immediate fortune. And yet, thousands of young men are playing for the same stakes—and greater ones—only they don't look at it that way. They don't realize it. Day by day these young men are building reputations in their home towns. Bankers watch them. Merchants watch them. Professional men watch them. They are watched by the rank and file. Some day they will want credit at the bank or a high favor at the hands of the community. They will have earned it or they will have lost their best chance to earn it. They will have failed.

Reputation is the business world's most important collateral.

Nothing makes a visiting school teacher more scornful than to hear the natives pronounce their state the way she doesn't.

WHO IS WICKED?

The great prophets always have been slow to condemn an individual on the basis of his human conduct. The prophets have pointed out paths to perfection. They have mapped the pitfalls along the paths. They have warned against this and that. They have approved right conduct.

But when it has come to passing judgment on the individual who has been accused or has confessed, the holy men have shown a remarkable lack of judicial initiative. They have held back. They have seemed to hesitate, and generally they have refused to condemn.

* * *

I cannot recall that Jesus, for instance, ever became downright abusive toward any wrong-doers, if we except the hypocrites. He was rather strict with the hypocrites; that's true. And those who carried on their financial wrangling in the temple porch were, of course, among the hypocrites.

The trouble with hypocrites is that they are so ready to condemn. They seem to feel so free of all blame themselves, that they are willing to pass instant judgment upon the conduct of their neighbors.

* * *

Well, you know, if I had a little private hell of my own, I don't think I'd get much fun out of filling it up with sinners. So far as I know, I'd keep it closed the year around, except to two classes of humans. Hypocrites and abusers of children.

Of course there are very few human beings who are unkind or cruel to children, but I wouldn't have any hesitancy about shoving those few right in and clamming the asbestos door behind them.

There'd be more of the hypocrites, I'm afraid. But I'd keep running them in until the establishment was full, and then I think I'd manage to squeeze in the late comers by putting seventy thousand cots in the halls and a million steamer chairs in the lobby.

You see, I'm going in for this human job of judging, too. But it's in the abstract. I really don't know an individual whom I could bring myself to condemn.

Prosperity Note Reflected, Shown By Foreign Trade

American Foreign Trade Outlook For 1928 Brightest In Recent Years

IMPORT TRADE IS SHOWING LOSS

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON July 31.—American foreign trade gives promise of one of the most prosperous years in history, Dr. Julius Klein director of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, declared today.

After a careful analysis of the situation Klein expressed the opinion that exports would amount to approximately $4,900,000,000 and imports about $4,100,000,000, leaving a favorable balance of trade of $800,000,000 at the end of 1928.

While pointing out that conditions during the next five months make accurate predictions difficult, Klein said that there has been a steady gain in exports, particularly of manufactured goods in the last few months and that the demand abroad indicates a continuation of this situation. Exports should exceed those of last year by about $30,000,000 or more.

On the other hand due principally to price reductions of raw materials, imports have declined. There is nothing to indicate that important price changes on coffee, sugar, silk and rubber, the principal purchases abroad will fluctuate materially during the rest of the year. Imports are expected to be $70,000,000 or more under last year.

Because of the coal strike reducing the domestic supply and the heavily increased production abroad, exports of this commodity were $17,000,000 less during the first six months of the year.

French Designers To Protect Wares Against Americans

By ROBERT W. THOMPSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, July 31.—Alleging that the United States has no modern decorative art of its own and that Americans are reaping wealth by copying the work of French designers, Parisian manufacturers of furnishings are seeking means to protect their wares.

But on the premise that the United States lacks native originality in modern decoration the French craftsmen admit that the situation stumps them.

"Evidently the United States is plundering us," says M. Dominique, proprietor of an interior furnishing house in the rue du Faubourg Saint Honore, in a letter to the "Intransigeant," but he adds: "If the Americans had a group of artists we would see an immediate reciprocal accord guaranteeing their rights. In this field they have everything to gain and nothing to lose."

French modernism in the home became popular in America following exhibitions sent over from Paris to two New York department stores last year, according to Marcel Sauvage in an article accompanying M. Dominique's letter.

"In all innocence, without a doubt, the Americans presented copies of French furniture in rooms adjoining the imported exhibition," reported Sauvage. "As an example an original French table would be priced $225 while the American copy would be marked $125."

Despite their protests the manufacturers admitted that from all interpretations of international law and the provisions of copyright the Americans can not be accused of illegal methods.

Ex-Convict Shows Police Officers How To Open Safe

Former "Cracksman" Walks Into Job In Atlantic City Police Station

(International News Service)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 31.—A shabby wanderer and self-styled "prince of cracksmen" has a good job today because he was able to open a safe in police headquarters here.

An absent-minded policeman had locked the safe after leaving the combination inside. He was about to drill open the safe—a long and expensive job—when the shabby stranger volunteered to open it with nothing but a piece of sandpaper if the police would provide him with a free night's lodging as a reward.

While a group of awed officers watched, the safe was deftly and quickly opened by the ex-convict, who boasted that he once had been "one of the best in the business". As a reward he got a bed, a good breakfast and cigars, and a job pushing wheel chairs along the boardwalk.

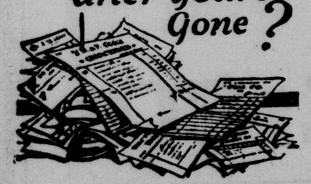

Mebbe th' reason some o' these drivers don't sound their horn at p'destrians is, they're afraid they'll dodge.

PETER'S ADVENTURES in ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

THE MEETING IN THE SKIES

"'Hello, Cousin Nightjar,' cried the bird flying toward us, and the fellow we had been following replied:

"'Greetings, Cousin Lyre-Tail. How are your feelings this day?'

"'Oh, splendid, thank you, only I have had such a terrible time with this old tail of mine. It is forever catching in something and losing a feather. I do wish that it was shorter. I never get over worrying about the old thing! How would you like to drag something behind you that is more than twice as long as your body? It is a perfect nuisance, I tell you. No later than this morning I got it stuck on the twig of a branch and what an awful time I did have pulling it free. I suppose my tail is all frayed out—take a look at it, cousin, will you?'

"The bird flirted about, and wife and I gasped. Now his back was toward us, and it was no wonder we had thought there was something queer about his tail. The thing was hardly a tail at all—only two curved feathers that framed an empty space through which we could plainly see the sky.

"And how long it was! There could be no pleasure in carrying a thing like that about, although, of course, it did give the fellow a distinguished air—certainly there was not another tail like it in all birdland. Then its owner's cousin spoke:

"'It looks all right to me, Lyre-Tail,' said he. 'I don't believe you damaged it a bit. But I must admit every time I see you I am glad that mine is not so long. In fact, I can't complain about my own at all. I have had very little trouble with it, ever. All I have to remember when I am flying is to open and close it like this (and he made that same curious motion that we had noticed when we first saw him). I couldn't fly nearly so fast nor so far if I kept it still.'

"'Of course you couldn't, Cousin Nightjar,' replied the other. 'And your making it go like that is why everyone calls you Scissors-Tail, isn't it? Good gracious, I thought we were alone. Cousin, did you notice that there are two strangers near us?'"

STUDEBAKER'S Ball Bearing Spring "Shackles"

In these new cars a patented invention at last solves a problem that has long baffled automotive engineers.

Every motorist knows the importance of spring shackles—those joints or hinges which form the connecting link between body and axles. Engineers have sought to reduce friction to a minimum at these vital joints—to make them flexible yet firm and uniform in action—to make them noiseless—to reduce the necessity for frequent lubrication. All these objectives have now been attained in Studebaker cars.

So revolutionary is this sensational innovation that the word "shackles," with its implication of restricted movement, is no longer applicable. The incessant action and reaction between body and axles is now carried by 172 steel balls rolling in lubricant—no binding, no squeaks, no rattles, no sidesway. Instead, smooth, silent resiliency, an undeviating uniformity of action and an enduring buoyancy that will keep your Studebaker young.

In place of complicated centralized systems for oiling and greasing, each ball bearing spring "shackle" contains, sealed within it, ample lubricant to last for more than twenty thousand miles.

At last . . . ball bearing spring shackles . . . the secret of the remarkable riding comfort of the new Studebakers.

Come ride in a new Studebaker today. Thrill to its champion performance. See rare new beauty of line and color. Then compare Studebaker's new low One-Profit prices—the triumph of 76 years' manufacturing experience!

A JOURNEY TO THE MOON

By S. S. MYERS

Many persons no doubt will be surprised to learn that a journey to the moon is now seriously considered by scientists as a feat likely to be accomplished eventually. So it may be that the dream of Jules Verne, as set forth in his book entitled "A Journey to the Moon," may yet be realized. When his "Around the World in Eighty Day" was published it was considered an impossible feat; yet, since then, men have circled the globe in much less time. "A Thousand Leagues Under the Sea" was considered the very limit of a wild imagination, but the submarine has taken it out of the realm of the imagination and made it a reality. There is no limit to what man can do when he concentrates upon achievement.

It has been a long time since we read Jules Verne's works but, if our memory serves us aright, in his "Journey to the Moon" he constructed an imaginary gigantic canon, aimed at the Moon, from which was shot a huge projectile containing three men. The story goes on to relate their experience—how the force of the shot carried them beyond the gravitation of the Earth and within that of the Moon. But, as the Moon was moving, the projectile approached it in a curve, passed around it and swung off into space like a comet passing around the Sun. Swinging beyond the gravitational pull of the Moon, and coming within that of the Earth, the projectile came back toward the Earth with ever increasing speed and came down in the middle of the Pacific ocean where the resistance of the waters gradually checked the terrific speed attained in their earthward flight and they were saved.

If Jules Verne could have foreseen the mechanical inventions of today he doubtless would have constructed his imaginary ship of space after the plan of the sky rocket. The Germans have invented an automobile which is propelled by rockets. A well regulated and continuous explosion of rockets keeps the machine going and a tremendous rate of speed can be obtained. They are now planning an airship which will be propelled in the same manner and which may ascend above the Earth's atmosphere where, unimpeded by atmospheric resistance, the flight from Europe to the United States could be made in an hour or less time. Of course those making such a journey would have to carry with them sufficient oxygen to keep them alive, but that could easily be arranged.

It is by the perfection of such a conveyance that scientists are looking forward to a possible journey to the Moon. It is interesting to contemplate what the adventurers on such a journey would experience. After passing through the Earth's atmosphere the sky would no longer be blue. It will have turned intensely black with the Sun appearing as a huge ball of seething fire. The stars, which our atmosphere obscures in the daytime, would be shining in all their brilliancy. The travelers would have to be an airtight compartment and warmly clad because they would be passing through a temperature more than 350 degrees below zero.

On passing over the line where the attraction of the Moon is greater than that of the Earth the propelling rockets could be shut off and another set used to slow up the ship, although not a great deal of slowing up would be needed because the gravitational pull of the Moon is only about one-fourth that of the Earth, so they would probably effect a safe landing.

But if they wanted to leave their ship to do any exploring they would have to carry a supply of oxygen with them as there is no atmosphere on the Moon. Furthermore, in addition to the intense cold—the Sun scorching one side of their bodies while the other side would be freezing, they would run the risk of being struck down by meteors as there would be no atmosphere to protect them as on the Earth. Nowhere would they encounter any life. No gentle breezes, no bird songs, no murmuring brooklets, no vegetation. Nothing but rocks, barren mountains and dreary, lifeless landscape. A dead, dead world!

But, looking out into space, what a vision would greet their sight! The Milky Way would appear as a great belt of diamonds set in black velvet. The stars would shine with a brilliancy never seen on the Earth. Among them would be a majestic globe four times larger than our Moon, stars disappearing before it and reappearing in its wake. If they had taken with them good field glasses they would see great ice caps at either pole, clouds tinged with many colors and the outlines of oceans and continents. Thus they would view the Earth from the Moon and no doubt wish they were safely back there again.

Dante didn't see all of hell. The Divine Comedy makes no mention of the paved district between skyscrapers in everlasting July.

Guardsmen Study Brigade Problems

Field Artillery Men In Summer Camp At Tobyhanna Play Big War Game

ARMY REGULARS ACT AS JUDGES

(International News Service)

CAMP GORDON, TOBYHANNA, Pa., July 31.—This encampment was practically deserted today as both regiments of the 53rd Field Artillery Brigade under the command of Brigadier General William S. McLean, of Wilkes-Barre, were engaged in working out the first brigade problem on the ranges.

The 109th Artillery spent the night bivouacked near ranges 8 and 13 while the 107th occupied the ranges on Artillery Ridge and Lone Tree. The guns were placed in position, communications were established and supply service put in operation.

The successive stages of the problem will be worked out today and adjustment fire delivered preparatory to firing the problem tomorrow morning.

Theoretically the 107th Field Artillery is supporting the 53rd Infantry Brigade in Trenches near Tobyhanna. The 109th is supporting the 56th Brigade on a similar mission. An imaginary attack will be made tomorrow and regular army instructors will act as judges of the battle that will follow.

LABOR COUNCIL MAJORITY WILL SUPPORT HOOVER

Hoover Is Cited

Although the by-laws of the Federation provide that in cases of non-partisanship reports the committee shall cite to the membership only the legislative records of the respective candidates, the committee, in view of the fact that Herbert Hoover never has served in an elective office, went beyond the letter of the rule to all. To Hoover's activities in behalf of the organized railroad workers and miners in the historic shopmen and coal strike of 1922.

It also cited Hoover's advocacy of scientific management, elemination of waste in industry, standardization practices, accident prevention, and, finally the Republican administration record during the last four years in the restriction of immigration—a cardinal policy of organized American workers.

The tariff as a factor in the present high level of American wages, and the vital necessity of maintaining that standard, were cited in debate as additional Republican contributions to the welfare of labor. Hoover's public utterances upon the theory of wages that wages should increase with production—was also advanced by President Green as a point of agreement between the policies of the Federation and the Republican party in the present campaign.

Frank Morrison, a protege and old-time fighting companion of the late Samuel Gompers, carried the fight before the executive council against a formal endorsement of Governor Smith's attitude on prohibition, as expressed in his eleventh hour message to the Houston convention.

Volstead Act Upheld

Morrison, an ardent dry has resisted in every Federation convention since the passage of the Volstead Act, any advocacy of modification. Although President Green was formerly active in Ohio politics as a Democrat, having served as president of the Buckeye senate for that party, he has remained steadfastly true to the traditional non-partisan policy of the Federation since he took up the torch of leadership from the hands of Samuel Gompers in 1924.

Gompers' soft-handed iron leadership is missed in this present situation. It was under Gompers, in 1924, that the Federation for the first time in its history, avowedly foresook the non-partisanship attitude in a presidential campaign. It endorsed Robert M. Lafollette of Wisconsin.

In its first convention after the election it passed a resolution vigorously reaffirming the non partisan policy.

The Kellogg negotiations for a fifteen nation pact renouncing war counted heavily also in the debate favoring endorsement of the Republican candidate. Labor conventions in every session since 1922 have advocated voluntary action by the world powers to curb the "plague" of war.

COUNCIL TAKES FIRST STEPS FOR CITY GOLF COURSE

an 18-hole course, and said 40 additional acres could be secured.

Ten acres can be rented at a nominal sum from the county of Lawrence and the other 30 acres can be purchased for $6,000. The golf committee has an option on the 30 acres.

Love said it would cost about $9,000 to put the golf course in shape for play next spring, and that if the city desired to act immediate steps should be taken.

The delegation of citizens said that by establishing a golf course men, women and boys could play at an inexpensive cost.

Love said that 560 persons had agreed to take out subscriptions amounting to $20 each.

He also stated that the course would in time become self-sustaining.

Councilman Burns offered his motion instructing White to prepare the legislation and colleagues concurred with his opinion. The recreational board will probably have charge of the grounds.

J. F. P. Kennelly followed Mr. Love and in addressing council strongly opposed council's proposed action.

Girl Scouts Prepare For Camping Season

Girl Scouts of New Castle are busy this week preparing for their annual encampment, which, this year, will be located at the Y. M. C. A. camp on the Slippery Rock. The girls are so appreciative of this season of camping that nearly all of them have earned all or part of the necessary money.

Not as many ways of earning money are open to girls as to boys, but they have made the most of their opportunities. The following are a few of the various ways in which they have earned their money: Weeding gardens, light housework, selling papers, taking care of little children whose mothers wanted to go out, helping a blind lady, selling gelatine and candy. Then troops as a whole have held bake and candy sales.

The camp staff have worked hard in planning a delightful season. Overnight hikes are only one of the many features and for this ponchos have been purchased so as to fully protect the girls. Only eight girls and one counselor will go at a time. There are such plans in handcraft as will delight every girl's heart and many opportunities will be given for special nature work.

The camp committee in general charge consists of Miss Elizabeth Reis, Mrs. F. E. Sowersby and Mrs. W. H. Hanger.

The following is the camp staff:

Miss Pauline Gilkey, camp director.

Miss Helen Wilson, nurse and health director.

Miss Gertrude Fullerton, dietitian.

Miss Helen Cooper, swimming and camp fires.

Miss Elizabeth Reis, nature work and handcraft.

Mrs. W. H. Hanger, first class work and handcracft.

The safety of the swimming here is one of the best features of the camp, the water being only 4½ feet deep at the swimming hole. Miss Cooper is hopeful of finding a deeper, safe place so the older girls may pass their life saving tests.

The girls who are doing first-class work will be given the opportunity of working off some of their badges in addition to the regular first-class work.

A Court of Awards will be held the last Saturday night of camp. This has been held so far twice a year—once at camp and once at a rally in January. The badges earned between these times are given at that time. Mrs. A. C. Hoyt is chairman of that committee.

An interested friend of girl scouting, who wishes to remain anonymous, has given money for five one-week scholarships to be given to those girls, who, in the opinion of the counselors, have earned it. The opportunity is thus given to some girls to stay two weeks who otherwise could not do so.

The girls are being examined this week by Drs. Wm. Wallace and C. C. Dickey, who have kindly given their services. The Girl Scout Council is very grateful for their interest.

Sunday is visiting day for parents and friends and they will receive a warm welcome. On account of special plans which have been made for the evening camp fires and which will be interfered with if visitors come every day, this one day has been set aside for visiting. Those girls desiring to go into town to church or Sunday school will be taken in. Special services called "Scout's Own" are always held at a Girl Scout camp. These services are such that any one, no matter what their religion, can attend.

Camp opens next Monday morning. Transportation will be furnished those who have no way of getting out. The first meal will be served at noon. The camp will be run on Eastern Standard Time.

"Freckles" won his first swimming prize, a diving trophy, at Hazleton.

In most places when great care is shown in preventing flies from contaminating food and spreading infection, Tanglefoot Fly Paper and Ribbon are used.

This is especially true in the kitchens of hospitals and other well regulated institutions.

When food is exposed to the air these sanitary destroyers are the only types of fly exterminators that should be tolerated. You will find them effective and their use desirable in your kitchen.

Radio Aids Candidates But Makes More Work

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Washington Correspondent for Central Press and New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—A political orator, in these days of radio broadcasting, in one respect is at a big advantage over the orator of yore, whose range, per speech, was limited to a roomful.

Now he addresses millions in the same length of time that it used to take his predecessor to address hundreds.

However, the up-to-date spellbinder has to have a lot more speeches.

The old-timer could write one good one and keep on delivering it over and over again. It made no difference to the Podunk electorate that the good folk of Four Corners had heard the same thing the night before and the voters at Hickville were equally thrilled by the same line of eloquence 24 hours later.

Today a speech once spoken has been listened to by everybody and an entirely new article is demanded.

* * *

When a candidate of this present year of grace announces his purpose to limit himself to a dozen or 15 speeches during his campaign, at first thought it seems as if he meant to be rather too economical with them.

Why, shucks!—that is 12 or 15 times as many as a candidate of two decades ago considered necessary.

The latter merely repeated his.

Twelve or 15 is an extraordinary number. On due reflection, it is hard to see how one man can think up so many. The better part of an unabridged dictionary can be talked into 12 or 15 speeches.

* * *

By good rights each speech in a campaign of today ought to deal with a distinct issue.

There are not that many national issues of importance.

Prosperity, economy, agriculture, power, prohibition, corruption, foreign affairs, national defense and the list is about exhausted, since the parties are practically at one on the tariff and religion is not recognized.

There would not be that many if the rival candidates had not provided some issues of their own. The framers of the two platforms tried to avoid furnishing any.

Turning out 15 peppy separate speeches between now and November is enough to strain any candidate's imagination.

* * *

Authorities also are all agreed that a speech must mean a great deal more to hold a radio audience than was required to make a hit in the 1890's and earlier.

A crowd creates its own enthusiasm.

What the speaker of yester-year had to say did not particularly matter, provided he made the eagle scream and the windows rattle and the chandeliers vibrate. People thought it was great stuff because a lot of them were gathered together, and they hypnotize one another.

Nobody has any idea that any such action is obtainable from the householder who sits calmly down in his own parlor to listen in, with only the wife and a youngster or two anywhere in the immediate vicinity.

* * *

Managers say a candidate certainly is saved a good deal in the way of physical wear and tear, through escape from the ordeal of racing madly around the country, shouting his head off at every whistling post.

They are not so sure this is not largely offset by the additional demands made on his gray matter.

Prominent Society Leaders' Names On Bootleggers List

Dry Officials To Question Elite In Philadelphia, New York And Washington

Liquor Shipment Valued At $100,000 Seized By Prohibition Agents

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, July 31.—Socially prominent men and women of this city, Washington, New York, Bar Harbor and Narragansett Pier may be called by federal authorities because their names were found indexed in a bootlegger's office here after prohibition agents seized fine imported wines, whiskey and liquors worth more than $100,000, according to Prohibition Administrator Samuel O. Wynne. Col. Wynne dubbed the place "society's filling station", asserting that investigation from Florida to Maine indicates that the social elite along the Atlantic seaboard obtained their supplies here.

Three Are Arrested.

Three men who gave their names as Joel D. Kerper and Tony De Mayor of this city and John Brill of Camden, were to be arraigned today before Judge W. H. Kirkpatrick of the U. S. district court, who issued the search and seizure warrant.

Attorney General Sargent has assigned Special Assistant E. W. Davis and R. W. Finch, from New York, to the case. It was explained that the "tip-off" came from Major Maurice J. Campbell, New York dry administrator, who learned that the liquor supply for parties held on large estates in New York and New England came from this city.

Agents assert much of the seized liquor was smuggled in from ships outside the 12-mile limit and the rest was brought from Canada in trucks.

Silence Spreads Over Activities Of Dope Raiders

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 31.—Fearful of defeating their own ends by "tipping" their plans to illicit narcotic dealers in Western Pennsylvania, federal narcotic agents here today threw a veil of silence over their plans as to future raids.

While he would neither affirm or deny reports that federal agents planned to follow their four arrests in Uniontown over the week-end with others, T. E. Duffy, chief of the narcotic bureau here said there was no organized ring in operation, in the sense there was last year when scores of indictments were returned.

Despite Duffy's reticence, some indication of activity on the part of his agents came with word that Archie J. Moore, 24, of Limestone, N. Y., a fugitive for more than two years was arrested in Bradford yesterday by narcotic agents and taken to Erie county jail. He is being held in default of $25,000 bail to await hearing on a charge of peddling "dope."

Duffy said that his agents were centering their efforts to nip plans of peddlers to reestablish "rings" which the agents broke up in Southwestern Pennsylvania and around Erie last year. Duffy said that recent arrests were isolated cases of peddlers who managed to smuggle their wares in from the Buffalo district.

Merchandise Must Be Removed From Sidewalks In City

Council today adopted an ordinance which prohibits the display of merchandise and other wares on sidewalks and also declares that obstructions which protrude from buildings cannot be erected.

The ordinance will become a law in ten days after which the ordinance will be enforced according to councilmen who met in formal session at the city building today.

Councilman Burns who had been lukewarm to the ordinance said today he favored its passage because some of the persons affected had overstepped themselves during the past few days.

Mayor Gillespie agreed with Councilman Burns and it is said that all displays and booths which protrude into the street must go.

Four Convicts Still At Liberty

(International News Service)

BELLEFONTE, Pa., July 31.—Search for the four convicts who are at liberty in the mountains southeast of here, was still without results today as a few guards from Rockview penitentiary aided by state and county police, continued to patrol the highways near Milroy and Reedsville.

Prison officials said the four men who walked away from a work gang last Thursday have not been seen since a volley of shots was exchanged between the fugitives and the searchers Sunday night.

Acting on the information that a group of boys had sighted the men, a squad of officers was rushed to the vicinity of Reedsville last night, but the search was futile. No trace of the convicts was found and owing to the ruggedness of the district a systematic search of the mountains was practically impossible, prison officials said.

All five of Rev. Diemer's sons are now in the ministry.

Fireman Stops Run-a-way Pony

Wilmer Hawk, who is a friend of the New Castle Fire department, did a Tom Mix Monday afternoon

It happened in this way: Down East street came a run-away pony. Back of the pony came a small boy who had hired it, chasing. Wilmer got up from his chair at the Central fire station, poised for a moment, and dashed out into the street, ready to do his duty. He grasped the pony firmly by the bridle and hung on until it came to a stop. Then he took it into the fire station, watered it, and told the small boy many things about the care and upkeep of all pony-dom in general.

Chrysler-Dodge Merger Closed

Merger Of Automobile Concerns Makes Chrysler Third Largest In Country

STOCKHOLDERS MEET, MERGER IS APPROVED

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 31.—The Chrysler Corporation has acquired the properties of the Dodge Brothers Corporation, it was announced by Walter P. Chrysler. The merger makes the Chrysler Corporation a $400,000,000 organization and third largest auto manufacturer in the world.

Consummation of the merger was effected two months after first submission of details to the stockholders, the delay being due to the failure of all classes of Dodge stockholders to manifest the 90 per cent approval insisted upon by Mr. Chrysler.

Dodge stockholders met at Baltimore and voted approval of the merger as announcement was made that last minute deposits had brought the total over the required amount.

The enlarged Chrysler Corporation has permanent assets of approximately $95,000,000, working capital of $80,000,000; total resources of $175,000,000; a distributor dealer organization of 12,00; a manufacturing capacity of 700,000 cars and truck and a gross business of $500,000,000.

The combined enterprises has funded debt of $61,000,000 and 4,420 shares of common stock selling in the markets for about $400,000,000.

Return From Visit To Ft. Washington

New Castle Residents Make Visit To Citizen's Camp In Maryland

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Blaha and daughter Helen of Winter avenue, Mrs. Daniel Maddocks of Boyles avenue and Mrs. William Johnston of Moody avenue, accompanied by Miss Helen Weingartner of the Butler road, returned home last night from a visit to the Citizens' Military Training camp at Ft. Washington, Md., where they visited Fred Blaha, Harry Maddocks, Russell Johnston and other New Castle boys who are stationed there.

Mr. Blaha reports a delightful time during the trip, stating that the guests at the camp were treated in royal fashion. The local party left New Castle for the camp last Thursday morning and spent the week end with the local boys at the place.

Nearly 800 boys are stationed at Ft. Washington, Mr. Blaha declares. They have the best time of their lives enjoying the drills and the recreation period in the afternoon.

Last Saturday was Parent's day at the camp and many relatives and friends of these at the training camp were there to pay them a visit. Special drills in the afternoon and other skirmishes were furnished to provide enjoyment for the visitors.

Lowe Winner In 800-Metre Race

Handsome Englishman Wins 800-Metre Race In Olympic Games Today

(International News Service)

OLYMPIC STADIUM, Amsterdam, July 31.—Douglas Lowe, the dark browed, handsome Englishman, won the classic 800-metre race on the Olympic program this afternoon, the race which all America had been fondly hoping would go to its ace of aces, Lloyd Hahn. In gaining his decision, Lowe repeated his victory of 1924 at Paris.

The defeat of the Americans, particularly Hahn, came as a bitter pill for the Yankee contingent to swallow, especially after the American reverses that came in the 100-metre dash, the hammer throw and 400-metre hurdles yesterday. The American section of the stands gave Hahn, Earl Fuller and Ray Watson a rousing cheer as they lined up for the start with the remaining nine finalists.

Cheer in Vain.

But they cheered in vain. Their idol, Hahn, could do no better than fifth place, being beaten a stride by Phil Edwards, the negro representing Canada, as this pair faltered past the finish. The Swede, Byhlen, and the German, Engelhard, also led Hahn into the worsted.

Lowe's time, 1:54 4-5, bettered Ted Meredith's Olympic record for the event but did not disturb the world's mark at present made by Hahn himself or the record that nipped Hahn's fraction of an inch, made by Seraphin Martin in the French trials. Martin could do no better than sixth place today.

The only satisfaction the Americans got out of the situation was the victory of Miss Elizabeth Robinson of the Illinois Women's A. C. in the final of the 100-metre dash for women. The American miss was clocked in 12 1-5 seconds, beating such international stars as the two Canadians, the Misses Rosenfeld and Smith, and Miss Steinberg of Germany. They finished second, third and fourth in that order.

Leighton Dye then further revived America's dashed hopes by winning his semi-final heat of the 110-metre hurdles in 14 4-5 seconds, equalling the Olympic record. Gaby, England, was second.

The Pole, Miss Knopacka, won the discus event, however, with a heave of 129 feet 11 3-5 inches. Miss Lillian Copeland, the Californian, was second with 119 feet 2 inches with Miss Svedberg of Sweden third.

White Presents Smith Record On Open Saloon As Member Of New York State Assembly

NEW YORK, July 31.—William Allen White editor of the Emporia (Kan.) Gazette last night made public the results of the two weeks study made for him of the New York Assembly Journal to show "the record of Gov. Alfred E. Smith as it affects the saloon and the allies of the saloon made by him as assemblyman during the first dozen years of his political career.

The record shows, White says, that as a member of the assembly Gov. Smith favored the old-time "wide-open, untrammelled, unregulated saloon" and voted against measures introduced for the purpose of putting restrictions upon it.

"Gov. Smith's record on the saloon a dozen or 20 years ago is chiefly important today in view of the fact that he defied the platform of the Democratic party and promised to introduce a liquor plan of his own" White said.

"Shows Idea of Saloon."

"His record shows that his idea was of a good saloon when he was a Tammany assemblyman."

Mr. White points out that the record was made when Gov. Smith was a young man.

"It is of course unfair to judge Gov. Smith today by the records of 20 years ago; but still something of his viewpoint may be found in tnat record," White's statement declares.

"Then we may assume that this model saloon which Al if he has not changed his mind since 1903 the saloon which he would restore to the American people would be wide open from dawn till far into the night, could be within 200 feet of schools and churches; could be operated by a man who could not be ousted for violating the law if he could control the judge before whom he was tried and get a suspended sentence.

"And we find finally a record to prevent the people of the neighborhood from voting to out the saloon, even though 40 per cent of the neighbors petition for an election.

"Here is the wide open, untrammelled, unregulated saloon of the good old days. Here indeed might Gov. Smith put his foot on the bar and blow off the froth as he publicly yearned to do in an interview with the New York Times in 1923."

White said in his statement that the record shows Gov. Smith voted to permit saloons within 200 feet of schools and churches if the saloon was in a hotel of 200 rooms was operated as a social club or if it was located south of 59th street in New York city or if the church rented any of its property for business purposes.

'Now what about the restrictions and regulations that were put about the saloons?" the statement asks. "We find him voting to require that a violation must occur twice in one year instead of in two years for the saloon keeper to be a second offender, that if he breaks the law only once a year he should be permitted to get away with it.

Friends of Tammany.

"Now about the relation of that saloon to the gambler and the prostitute? Gov. Smith's assembly record shows clearly how he felt about the problem, how liberal he was with these ancient friends of Tammany.

"On April 23, 1908 we find Smith voting against forbidding physical connections between the saloon and the house of prostitution and gambling houses. And so for the gamblers in 1910 we find Smith voting against a bill which would have punished the owner of premises where gambling was carried on with his knowledge.

"And aside from the question of the ladies of the most ancient trade in connection with the saloon let us consider how Smith's vote protected them when he was in the legislature. We find him on April 26 and May 3, 1905 and April 3, 1906 voting against a bill which would permit local police officers to enter any questionable Raines law hotel at any hour it was open for business and which would have required fire or building inspection for the abodes of such places on all restrictive measures Smith's record is against restriction."

Refers to Bill in 1910.

Referring to a bill in 1910 which would have restricted the number of saloon licenses to one for every 750 population and regulated the operation of hotels, White says the assembly record shows Gov. Smith opposed the measure for a limiting amendment, voted against reconsideration, and voted against it the second time.

'So four times in two days Assemblyman Smith voted against restricting the number of licenses, voted against stipulating that prostitution be prohibited, voted against true name registration in hotels voted in favor of permitting rooms to be rented repeatedly to different persons the same night.

"His record answers the question as to his attitude as an assemblyman towards restricting the liquor traffic. Can he still told that he has not changed his mind since the record was made?"

Smith as speaker favored Tammany, White said.

Record Not New.

"It is inconceivable" he goes on, that he has not changed his mind since he left the assembly, but the record is the record built in the days of his youth. It is no new thing in this state.

"His votes on these measures have been printed time and again in various New York elections and outside of the city of New York, generally New York state people have voted overwhelmingly against Gov. Smith and that record.

"He has lost on that record outside of the metropolitian area time and again. No one believes—least of all do I believe—that Gov. Smith today is the kind of man that made that assembly record, but Tammany would remake that record and make Smith break it if it could.

"Gov. Smith has done many splendid things since then. He has grown in power and grace but the record stands. His answer to it should not be an alibi and lacking repudiation the record stands as a foreshadowing portent of what may be expected from Gov. Smith in the White House.

"A word from him, now that he has the nomination of a major party would seem to be necessary at the outset of his campaign.

"I have tried to be exact and carefull in setting down the record but if erros, typographical or factual have been made inadvertently I shall be the first to acknowledge them."

Issues Additional Statement

New York, July 31.—Following the publication this morning of a review of the legislative record of Governor Al Smith while he was a member of the New York legislature in which William Allen White, Kansas editor, charged Governor Smith had voted consistently with Tammany to protect the saloon, gambling and vice, White today issued a statement modifying and withdrawing some of his charges.

White's statement was as follows:

"Yesterday talking to Walter Lippman of the World, a friend of Governor Smith and of mine for many years, I learned that Governor Smith was deeply aggrieved that I should charge him with protecting gambling and prostitution in his assembly record. I can understand after considering what Mr. Lippman said that the governor in casting those votes against those reform bills might honestly have felt that the bills were unconstitutional or were not enforcible or infringed upon personal liberty or encouraged police blackmail.

"These bills did not so impress others who voted for the bills but Governor Smith certainly is entitled to fair treatment. I always have tried to fight fair. I have never consciously questioned any man's motives and so this morning before the morning papers have come and before I know what, if any, reply Governor Smith has made to my statement I desire to withdraw the charges formally insofar as they affect his votes on gambling and prostitution but not his position as to the saloon.

"On the question of the menace of Tammany and of Governor Smith's Tammany record for the open saloon the whole issue of the campaign is becoming organized.

"Protected prostitution is quickly passing out of American life and that issue is not vital. But vital or not, I could not in good conscience press this issue realizing that Governor Smith whom I greatly admire for his many high qualities feels that my charges question the purity of his motives which always should be granted in any political controversy. So the ten or a dozen votes on gambling and prostitution come out of the record.

"I hope now American newspapers and particularly Republican newspapers will give the same consideration to this statement that they gave my statement yesterday."

Deaths Of Presidents Related In Paper Found In Old Bible

A copy of the New York Herald of April 15, 1865, and a Pittsburgh Dispatch of September 20, 1881, were brought into the News office Monday by Percy Walls of Boyle avenue. Both papers were found in an old Bible belonging to Mr. Walls' grandfather. John Kemp of Mercer, who died in 1898. Several sons of Mr. Kemp were in the Union army and the New York Herald, edited by James Gordon Bennett, depicted the death of Abraham Lincoln.

Headlines telling of the murder did not run the width of the page as they do now but were printed down the length of the column. A full front page was devoted to the death of the president.

The story tells that the rumor was that everyone in the cabinet had been assassinated and that the south was making an attempt for a victory over the north even though peace had been declared.

The same kind of advetisements appeared as they do today. Jelly preparations were advertised, a well known remedy for grippe and another ad to keep people from drinking coffee with the usual testimonials.

The paper was a two-page extra that had been put out at 8:10 in the morning following the death of Lincoln.

The copy of the Dispatch brought in by Mr. Walls deals with the death of President Garfield. A complete story covering the entire front page that was not broken up by headlines presents to the eye a solid mass of reading matter. The paper was slightly more modern in appearance than the paper printed some 20 years before.

The advertisements of the day's issue showed many firms that we now know being in business.

Perhaps the most interesting of the advertisements was one concerning bicycles. It stated that good second hand bicycles would be taken in exchange and that purchasers of bicycles would be taught to operate them free of charge.

Another huge display advertisement told about the "First Races in the World" on a half-mile track by "electric light".

One of the classified advertisements told of a 14-room dwelling house that could be rented for $40 per month.

USED CARS are opportunities
—A used car is unused transportation—

A GOOD automobile may be likened to a "package" containing so many thousand miles of transportation.

Only occasionally are all of these miles used by one owner. The American custom of turning in a car after an average use of two years, brings into the market every year several million "used cars." And these offer opportunities which more people are appreciating every year.

The cars accepted by General Motors dealers in trade vary in name, body style and price. Some have seen sturdy service; in others the potential mileage has been scarcely touched. There is a wide field of choice for families wanting transportation at the lowest possible cost, or wishing to own a car of a higher price class.

Particularly do used cars present an easy way of owning a second or third car.

Examine the used cars in the stores of General Motors dealers, and purchase the car of your choice on the convenient GMAC Payment Plan

Coffee students for years have known that the way to extract the full flavor of the Coffee bean is the Drip-Filter Method. But there has been no simple, practical, economical way to drip and filter coffee in the home.

The Dripco Coffee Maker does it as simple as 1-2-3. Thousands of tests by housekeepers and scientists have proved this is the better way to make coffee.

The secret of the Dripco Coffee Maker is the exclusive fiber-silk filter paper. Like magic it passes the flavor and nutrients of the coffee bean and holds back all the fats, oils, and grounds.

Coffee must be specially ground, finer and more uniform than steel cut or ordinary grinding, to permit the full flavor and aroma to be extracted.

Breakfast Cheer Coffee, for years a most popular brand, is now ground to the special fineness and uniformity necessary for the drip-filter process. Look on the package for the words "Ground for Dripco Coffee Maker." Beaver County To Send Delegation

Hundred Cars In Caravan Coming Here For Granger's Picnic

BEAVER FALLS, July 31. — One hundred automobiles loaded with farmers, business men, their wives and kiddies is the contingent expected to represent Beaver county in the Inter County Grange picnic in the grove of J. A. Boak near West Liberty grange about six miles east of New Castle on Friday, August 3, according to David Douglass who is heading up a committee on arrangements in Beaver county. While Beaver county is farther from the scene than either Butler or Lawrence it is the aim of Mr. Douglass to equal their representation.

The Willard Grange of Lawrence county has taken the responsibility of roasting an ox to feed the multitude expected to gather. L. J. Tabor, national grange master and E. B. Dorsett, Pennsylvania state master, will deliver the speeches of the day. Arrangements have been made for the junior element to participate in sport events.

It is the desire of the Beaver county committee that those making the trip from Beaver county assemble at North Sewickley grange hall on the Ellwood City road not later than 10 o'clock, Daylight Savings Time, Friday, August 3. Suitable posters have been provided for all Beaver county automobiles.

Burgess Wars On Passing Hand Bills

JAMESTOWN, Pa., July 31.—Burgess W. S. Wammer has decided that the passing of hand bills and circulars about the town which litter up people's porches and yards must be stopped. Some time ago, he issued the order and since that time almost daily violations of the order have occurred.

Burgess Wammer asks that he be called in person when people notice anyone violating the rule about town and he will go and stop it at any cost.

Drives His Truck Into Stone Wall

Avoids Hitting Another Car But Strikes Wall At Trinity Church

Running his truck into the stone wall abutting Trinity Episcopal church was the experience of Thomas Jenkins of 551 East Long avenue when he tried to avoid hitting another car at the intersection of Mill and Falls streets last evening. A traffic sign was knocked down and the truck was damaged considerably.

Ed McMurtrie of 418 Epworth street, while going east on Home street Monday evening, collided with a machine bearing Pennsylvania license 612-482, which was going south on Mill street. A small amount of damage was done, according to the police report.

U. S. Reno reports to the New Castle police that Monday afternoon when he was driving south on South Croton avenue a machine carrying Pennsylvania license B71-232 hit him at the intersection of Mill street, doing some damage to his car.

Recover Body Of Drowned Boy

SHARPSVILLE, Pa., July 31.—The body of Arthur Ferguson, 9, who was drowned yesterday at the Pennsylvania tower in the dam, was recovered last evening by searching parties.

The body was found amout 35 feet from the spot where his clothes were seen and about 75 feet out into the river. The lad had but one shoe and stocking on. It is thought that he went in to wade and stepped into deep water.

The lad was one of eight children.

Arrest Sharon Truck Driver With 90 Cases Of Beer

WARREN, O., July 31.—Mike Dumitru of Sharon, was arrested here with a truck load of booze. The truck contained 90 cases of Canadian beer.

Dumitru claimed that he knew nothing of the owners or from whence the liquor came but that he had been hired to drive it through from Cleveland to Youngstown. He was to stop at the third street light on Market street in Youngstown and await further instructions.

The truck was flagged to stop when there was no weight limit painted on the side. Instead of stopping, Dumitru speeded up which resulted in the chase and the confiscation of the liquor.

The Diary of a New Yorker

BY CLARK KINNAIRD

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

NEW YORK, July 31.—On the sidewalks of New York:

A ragged man toting a sandwich sign in lower Broadway at the financial axis of the world, advertising, "Dress suits for rent, $5." . . . Girls who pour out of the wholesale houses in mid-Broadway at noon are letting bobbed locks grow out, but are appearing without stockings. . . . Most of the canes "worn" in New York are seen above Fifty-eighth street. Downtown crowds are so thick they're a nuisance. . . . Among the habitues of Union square is a woman with a pet squirrel and a pet bird. She brings them to the park each day and frees them from their cages for a ramble. When she calls to them, they obediently return to the cages and allow themselves to be locked in for the journey to her rooms. . . . Firemen make New York kids happy in summer by bringing out hose and flooding blocks of certain streets. . . . Live steers are not unknown on Broadway. Regular shipments of them are made by auto truck to kosher butchers on the east side, where the slaughter of each steer is a rite performed by a rabbi. . . . As might be expected in a city where pavements are so hard and where most persons, because of edicts of style, wear the wrong kinds of shoes, there are many hundreds of chiropodist shops, many of them on Broadway. . . . As I walk in the streets, looking into persons' faces, I wonder why people cling so tenaciously to life. It is depressing to observe the faces in crowds. Few are hopeful and confident. New York is a place to make a man hold his head high in the air, but it writes anxiety, fear and defeat into faces.

* * *

More observations of a stroller:

A middle westerner endeavoring to make himself understood in seeking directions from a traffic cop from Brooklyn. . . . Every block on Broadway is filling up with filling stations of the human variety. First there was a wave of orange drink stands. Then pineapple drink stand promoters rented stores and tore out the front to provide space for ornate suggestions of South Sea Island coolness. Now the apple drink stand wave is on.

* * *

In most cities, the mere possession of a million dollars makes a man known to every resident of the place. But in New York wealth in itself conveys no distinction. A man may be worth $10,000,000 and be unknown to more than 50 persons outside of his acquaintances. If a list of the millionaires in New York were compiled, it is doubtful if a single person in the city could identify more than a third of them.

Which accounts for the fact that scores of wealthy men have personal press agents endeavoring to make them known.

AGED MAN FREE OF RHEUMATISM AND DIZZINESS

Ten Herbs Also Ended Stomach Trouble, He States; Had Suffered 10 Years.

"Ten Herbs not only ended my rheumatism, but also gave me relief from stomach trouble and constipation, with which I had been troubled the last ten years," was the statement of Mr. Frederick Volmer, 1322 Jeffers Street, Sheraden, Pa., according to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, New Castle, where he is daily demonstrating this popular herbal compound.

"Before using Ten Herbs, I tried about everything under the sun for my bowels, but got only temporary relief," continued Mr. Volmer, who is 64 years old, and a printer. "Not getting rid of waste matter, caused my whole system to become clogged. My liver became disordered, and when I stooped over everything got black in front of me. I had bilious attacks and dizzy spells. My kidneys did not work properly, for uric acid formed and rheumatism developed in my neck and shoulders until I could hardly raise my arms above my head. I was told I had neuritis. Food would lie in my stomach and sour and ferment. Gas would form and work up around my heart—I had many a scare, for at times I feared every breath would be my last. I finally became very weak and run-down.

"Now, thanks to Ten Herbs, all these conditions have been changed. My bowels are regular, and my liver and kidneys are working properly—no more billiousness or dizzy spells. Pains across my back and neuritis are things of the past. I have a better appetite, and can enjoy meals without fear of misery afterwards. No more gas, bloating, or palpitation. My nerves are stronger and I get good restful sleep, instead of rolling and tossing by the hour. I can work all day long without having that exhausted feeling. I am only too glad to endorse Ten Herbs to the public."

The Ten Herbs Man is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine.

Morning Fire Does $250 Damage

Damage approximating $250 was done to the building occupied by John Callas at about 8:30 this morning, when fire, originating in the kitchen, burned a hole through the floor of the building at 1223 Moravia street and started to get into the attic.

Company Five answered the alarm, finding that the cause for the blaze was a match or burning cigarette thrown in a box of rubbish. Chemblaze.

Foolish Vacation Practices Are Causing Many Deaths Warns State Health Head

"Life, which health departments and physicians are doing so much to conserve and prolong, is being daily thrown away through the seasonal enthusiasm of the vacation time on the part of the individual," said Dr. Theodore B. Appel, Secretary of Health, today.

"It does seem a shame that thoughtless people will deliberately cross crossings incautiously, pass motors on hills and do many other foolish driving tricks, the result of which is serious accident or death.

"It is also a pity that a number of so-called expert swimmers are doomed to go down for the third time every summer during the vacation months. Swimming, while one of the healthiest sports, should always be handled with care; strangely enough, it is the person who is sure of himself who often goes to the bottom. This kind of an 'expert" will venture where the less experienced will be extremely cautious.

"To keep the roadside eating stands sanitary, to insure healthy drinking water by the side of the highways, to insist upon cleanliness and proper facilities at motor camps all go for naught if the vacationist permits his enthusiasm to overcome his judgment and an accident or calamity results.

"According to available statistics more people were killed through motor accidents in the last six month's period than ever before in the history of vital statistics; and Pennsylvania, with its dense population, occupies a high position in this unenviable record.

"With respect to swimming fatlities the statistics also disclose that despite bathing beach protection too many will venture away from it, either because of their swimming conceit or desire for exclusiveness, and drown in consequence.

"The sad part of the story lies in the utter helplessness of officials to do anything about it. With hazards of this character, health departments can do nothing but preach.

"It is entirely proper to be enthusiastic about the vacation but handsome dividends are paid to those who keep their enthusiasm under proper control. Therefore, before permitting the excitement of vacation sports to get the better of you, remember that an outing is due you not only this year but every year for a long time to come. Live to enjoy them."

Buddhist Monks Do Dance Of Llamas For Movie Camera

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, July 31.—Scientists and movie cameramen have photographed for the first time the sacred dance of "llamas", Mongolian Buddhist monks, never before even witnessed by outsiders. Armed with cameras and substantial bribes, the expedition stormed a monastery in the wildest and most remote section of Mongolia. The priests had never seen a camera before, and not realizing that their sacred secrets were to be stolen, finally consented to allow the visitors to enter the temple.

The clever cameraman photographer the entire service and after the expedition had departed the priests ordered seven days and nights of prayer and fasting to cleanse the temple which had been defiled by the presence of unbelievers. If they had realized the full meaning of the invasion, the explorers would never have escaped with their lives.

The scene is to be part of a new historical film produced by the soviet kino trust, entitled, "The Descendant of Tschingis-Khan". It is being directed by P. I. Pulovkin, director of "Mother" and "The Last Days of St. Petersburg" and is said to be not only an artistic triumph, but a valuable contribution to science.

WHY did Heinz go into the cereal business?

Because the House of Heinz, after years of research work, was convinced that it was possible to make a contribution to your health and enjoyment by the production of a cereal food entirely different from any other already on the market.

Heinz Rice Flakes are the result.

But to give you Heinz Rice Flakes it was necessary to develop an entirely new process of cereal-making.

By this patented process, certain qualities of the whole rice grain are combined in such a way as to impart a new health-giving quality to the flakes. This is the first and only time that the natural cellulose or roughage content of the rice grain has been entirely retained in a cereal, giving to Heinz Rice Flakes the properties of a gentle, natural laxative.

Most important of all—you will say—is the delightful flavor of this new cereal. An entrancing, nut-like flavor that has no likeness in any cereal you ever tasted.

All in all, Heinz Rice Flakes are just what Heinz set out to perfect... an entirely different, more edible, better tasting, more healthful, crispier, crunchier cereal food . . . ready to eat with milk or cream and a little sugar.

This is Heinz contribution to the cereal-making industry and to the health of the nation.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

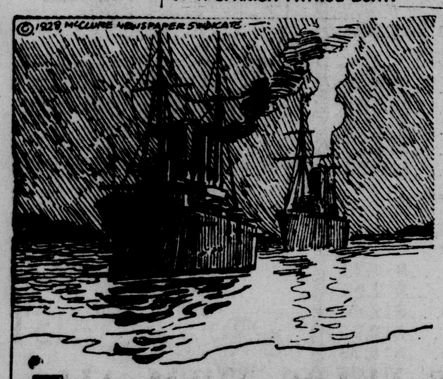

The Story Of Our War With Spain
The Battle Of Manila Bay—Part I

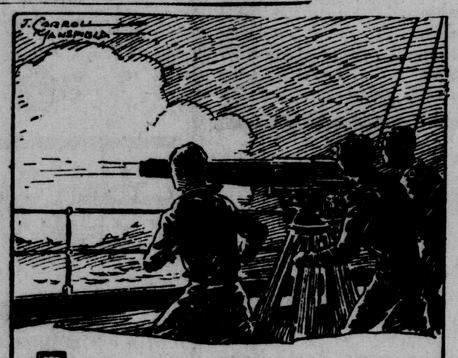

LATE ON THE NIGHT OF APRIL 30, 1898, THE SHIPS OF DEWEY'S AMERICAN SQUADRON, SHROUDED IN DARKNESS, GLIDED LIKE GRAY GHOSTS TOWARD THE STRONGLY FORTIFIED ENTRANCE OF BOCA GRANDE CHANNEL THAT LEADS INTO MANILA BAY.

ON EVERY SHIP THE BATTLE PORTS HAD BEEN CLOSED, AND NOT A LIGHT SHOWED, EXCEPT A DIM RED SIGNAL AT THE STERN. IT WAS CLOSE TO MIDNIGHT WHEN THE CORREGIDOR LIGHT FLASHED AHEAD. MIDNIGHT, AND THE "OLYMPIA", LEADING THE LINE, WAS DIRECTLY BETWEEN THE FORTS. THERE WAS NO SOUND, NOR ANY SIGN OF A SPANISH PATROL BOAT.

HALF OF THE FLEET HAD PASSED THE FORTS UNOBSERVED WHEN SUDDENLY A TELLTALE SHOWER OF SPARKS POURED FROM THE FUNNEL OF THE "McCULLOCH", ILLUMINATING THE CHANNEL. INSTANTLY THERE CAME A SHOT FROM ONE OF THE SPANISH BATTERIES.

THE GUNS OF THE "McCULLOCH" AND THE "BOSTON" BARKED IN REPLY. THEN, A FEW SCATTERED SHOTS FROM THE FORTS. NONE OF THE WARSHIPS WERE STRUCK, AND SOON THE SQUADRON HAD PASSED OUT OF RANGE IN THE INKY DARKNESS. SILENCE REIGNED ONCE MORE.

TOMORROW—THE BATTLE OF MANILA BAY.

HENRY FIRPO DEFEATS GEORGE PEROTTA

Thrilling Bouts Please Fandom

Johnny Dunn Wins Sensational Bout From Joe Boychan

HENDERSON AND McMANUS WIN, ALSO

By ED FRITZ.

Several thousand men and women filled Jolly bowl last night to see Henry Firpo, Louisville, win from George Perotta, New Castle, in a ten round bout clustered with thrills from the tap of the first bell to the last gong in the tenth, and while Perotta was defeated by a clear cut margin he was not disgraced.

Perotta fought a smart, clever boxer who could hit and to aid in his defeat his judgment was away off but what George lacked in judgment of distance he furnished thrills as he never stopped trying though there were times when the blows of Firpo surely must have tested his heart and found it 100 proof.

Firpo's long left kept Perotta off balance and as soon as it landed Firpo sent over a right to the jaw. Perotta worked a right to the jaw successfully in the first few rounds but as the battle progressed ripped left hooks to the stomach and in almost every round they stood toe to toe and slugged.

Perotta showed that he can fight and in my opinion fight better than he did last night while Firpo's victory goes to show that he is going to mount the fistic ladder as he is only 21 despite that fact that some of his hair lies thin around the forepart of his pate.

What Perotta Said.

Perotta told the writer following the bout that he had been handicapped in training as no one big enough at Erie could be secured as a training partner and as a result his hitting accuracy suffered. He felt badly about his defeat but extended the hand of congratulation to Firpo and asked for another chance.

The big surprise package of the evening was the boy from Wilkes-Barre, Johnny Dunn. He gave Joe Boychan a tasting lacing in a six round bout and clearly demonstrated that he is not a semi-final fighter but a main bout fighter. He hit good, boxed fast and used his brain to think with, which some boxers dont.

Louie Severio, the flash from Meadville outboxed Bobby Belford in a good six round classy boxing bout but Bobby backed away from the Meadville lad. Two colored boys, Spike Henderson and Sandy Taylor travelled four rounds in a fast battle and Roy Minteer and Terry McManus fought four rounds.

Henderson was given the decision over Taylor and they made such a hit that the writer has rematched them for the next go. Minteer put up a game fight against McManus but the old-timer proved too crafty for Roy and shook him up with a long right to the jaw.

Harvey Boyle Present.

Next Monday night Willie Davies, one of the greatest Welshmen who ever laced a glove about his wrist will box Jose Allano and indications are that there will be a big overflow crowd.

Havey Boyle, boxing commissioner, sat in at the bouts last night and was heartily pleased with the way the bouts were staged and said he was gratified to see so many women present.

George Chip refereed the bouts. The two judges were Henry Goldberg and Chauncey Davis. Bill Jolly is the promoter and he can rest assured that the fans are with him here, as the immense crowd last night showed.

Three Games In Twilight Loop

Round By Round With Fritz At Jolly Bowl

Perotta Game But Firpo Takes 10 Round 'Go'

By ED. FRITZ
(Sports Editor And Matchmaker)

The first bout of the evening was between Terry McManus, Pittsburgh and Roy Minteer, New Castle, Pa. The boys weighed 113½. McManus caught Minteer flush on the jaw with a right hand sock in the first round which shook Roy up. McManus poked a long left into his face just before the bell. In the first part of the round Minteer excelled at close range work. In the middle of the second round McManus left his long right fly again to the jaw but it did not apparently hurt Minteer who worked hard inside. McManus caught Roy coming in again with his long right to the jaw but Roy kept walking in. Just before the bell sounded Minteer's left eye started to close as the result of McManus straight right. In the third McManus assumed the aggressive and they exchanged right hand punches to the head and Minteer tired. McManus showered him with right uppercuts when Minteer bent over and he had a wide edge at the end of the round. Minteer opened the fourth with a vicious assault and had McManus hanging on and he ran along the ropes to escape. Minteer sent him to the ropes again but McManus got away but Minteer leathered him in the center of the ring. McManus was tired. McManus ducked many of Minteer's swings but as Roy came in Terry caught him with a long right to the jaw. It was Minteer's round by a big margin. The decision was given to McManus.

HENDERSON BEATS TAYLOR

The next four rounder was between Sandy Taylor of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Spike Henderson of Cleveland was started amid a roar of applause. Spike had vaseline on his face and Sandy wore a red sweater. Spike looked like the flitting shadow of Squedunt and Sandy wore a frown that resembled a grimace, of madness. They started off like a house afire and apparently there was no need of a referee. They fought their way in and fought their way out. Spike sent 'em to the jaw and Sandy sunk 'em deep in the bread basket while the crowd roared. The first round had plenty of action which was evenly fought. There wasn't a moment of idleness in the second and they were fighting viciously when the bell rang. Spike drove Sandy around in the third but he tired and Sandy was quick to grasp the advantage with punches to the stomach and head. It was a great round again. It was a whirl of flying colored fists in the last round. The decision was given to Henderson.

BOBBY BELFORD FIGHTS SEVERIO

The first six round bout was between Louie Severio, Meadville and Bobby Belford of Alliance, Ohio. There was only a pound difference in their weights. They started off with an exchange of lefts to the face and fought for the head almost entirely. Belford switched his attack to the stomach when they got to close quarters and caught Severio with a right and left as he came in. It was a classy exhibition of boxing. In the second they went to a clinch and then slugged to the head and Belford caught Severio with a right to the jaw as he rushed in. They roughed each other up in the clinches. Belford brought blood from Louie's lips. In the third they met in the center and Belford was forced to give ground and when he swung was wild. Severio had the best of the going and punished Belford with a right to the jaw and a left to the midriff at the bell. Belford tried to slug with Severio in the fourth but was sent to the ropes. Severio's judgment of distance was off but he landed a right to the head and Belford retaliated with a right to his head. The previous bout made this look slow as Bobby was content to grab and hold. Just before the round ended Louie landed a solid right to the jaw and the fans set up a roar of applause. Round five started off faster than the fourth session and Severio forced the fighting. He had Bobby tired and chased him across the ring with swings. Belford stopped long enough to fire several rights and lefts to the stomach. They slugged on the ropes. The last round found them battling head to head. The decision went to Severio.

JOE BOYCHAN BATTLES DUNN

Johnny started off by poking a left to Joe's face and took a left hook to the stomach. Johnny's flaming green tights and dancing attitude caught the fans' fancy but the purple-clad Boychan soon mustered his followers. Joe slapped a right to his jaw and Johnny jolted him with rights to the jaw and a stiff left to the nose. They stood in the center and slugged. Boychan drove him across the ring at the end of the first round and applause ripped through the stands at the bell.

They jumped from their corners and went to close quarters and Dunn hooked a left to the head and Boychan fought to the stomach. Dunn held Boychan's right glove and Joe belabored him with rights to the back of the head. Dunn sent right to the kidneys. At cloes quarters Dunn jolted Boychan with short lefts then stabbed him with a left. Dunn's left beat Boychan's to the face in the next exchange and they clinched. Dunn shot a left to the head and Boychan hooked a right to the wind at the bell.

Boychan's right sailed over Dunn's head when the third started and when Joe missed Dunn struck him with a left. The crowd was with Boychan although Dunn's left found his face. Dunn forced Boychan to the ropes and they did not mince their punches. Dunn stuck him again with a left and Joe landed a right to the back of the head. Dunn jabbed again and Boychan ripped a right hook to the wind. They fought like two wildcats and when Boychan missed Dunn was quick to stab. Joe retaliated with a right hook to the stomach and Dunn fought him on the ropes. Johnny forced the fighting and some more applause came as the round ended.

Dunn Aggressive

Dunn took the aggressive in the fourth. Dunn tried to measure him off on the ropes but Boychan stuck his right in Johnny's stomach. Dunn ripped him with a left to the jaw at close quarters, held him off with a left and crossed a right to Joe's jaw. They fought viciously and Boychan was on the receiving end when the round ended amid another big hurrah.

They jumped across the ring again and Boychan sent two rights to the jaw. Dunn literally jabbed his head off and Joe swung to the stomach. It looked great to the fans who were cheering like fiends. The game Boychan stood right up and kept trying to get under Dunn's long leads. Dunn stuck two more lefts in the face but he swung back and landed repeatedly around the body. On the ropes Dunn jolted Joe with hooks to the jaw and stomach and staggered Boychan. He caught the tired Boychan with a right uppercut to the jaw. Boychan fought wild against the clever Dunn and they were ripping each other when the bell rang.

They shook hands when the sixth started and Boychan sent a right to the stomach. Dunn held him off with a left and caught him with a right cross. They fought head to head and toe to toe and Dunn cuffed him in a clinch and sent Boychan to the ropes where blood trekked from his nose. He forced Boychan around but they slugged each other viciously on the ropes. Dunn sent a right to the chin and Boychan lifted a right uppercut to the jaw then followed with another one. Boychan sent a good right to the jaw and Dunn sent over another left. Boychan jabbed a left to the face then caught Dunn with a right to the stomach at the bell. The dicision was given to Dunn.

FIRPO BEATS GEO. PEROTTA

Henry Firpo crawled into the ring followed by George Perotta. Firpo got a big hand but Perotta got the lion's share. They walked to the center of the ring and got their instructions from Referee George Chip after which they returned to their corners and the bell rung.

Round 1.—Firpo rushed across the ring but missed with a left and Perotta swung wild with a right. Perotta stabbed Firpo with a left to the face, and Firpo's left for the head fell short. They tugged in the clinch and both missed lefts. Firpo sent left to the head and Firpo caught him with a right to the jaw. Perotta hooked a long left to the stomach and they swung wildly for the head in the center. Perotta jabbed to the head and Firpo retaliated with a left to the face. As Perotta swung a wild right Firpo caught him with a hard right to the stomach and then a left to the face.

Round 3.—Perotta's left fell short for the heart and Firpo skipped around then jabbed light. They missed right hand leads and Firpo followed a clinch by jabbing his left. Perotta's right was wild and it landed on the back. They both missed right swings and Firpo forced George back with a left to the face. Perotta's right sailed over his head and then his left, a sort of a shove landed again on the head. Perotta lifted a hook to the chin. When Perotta missed a right Firpo hit him with a right uppercut to the jaw. He kept George off balance but Perotta came back and nailed Firpo three or four times. It was a wild fight when the round ended.

Round 5.—Firpo jabbed to the head then jabbed again and crossed his left. Perotta landed a right to the head. He caught Firpo with two more rights then sent a long left hook to the stomach. Perotta jabbed, hooked his left and Firpo met him coming in with two rights to the stomach. When Perotta missed Firpo caught him with a right and a left to the chin. They were putting up a great fight. Firpo jabbed to the head. When Perotta missed Firpo hit him on the back of the head. Blood was showing on Perotta's face. Firpo sent stiff right to the body. Firpo hit Perotta with a right on the head and George was tired when the bell rang.

Round 6.—Firpo opened with a left to the face and his next left fell short. They slugged to the body. Firpo landed a right to the chin. Perotta sent a light left cross to the head. Firpo's right circled Perotta's belly then he lifted a right to the same place but Perotta retaliated with a left to the stomach. Firpo stuck a left in the wind then followed with a left to the face. Firpo landed a right to the stomach. Perotta shot a left to the face. He forced Perotta across the ring and at close quarters Perotta sent a right to the body. Firpo sent right to the head. George's face was goresome as Firpo forced him to the ropes. The blood from George's face showed florid on the Louisville boy's face.

Round 7.—Perotta jabbed a left to the face. They fought at close quarters Perotta's left wound around Firpo's neck and he landed a left to the stomach. Firpo sent both hands to the body. Firpo jabbed then sent a right to the kidney. He sent four more in, two to the stomach and two to the head and he forced George to back away. Firpo nailed him with another left. Perotta's distance was poor and Firpo cuffed him with a left in close. Perotta rushed in tired and failed to land. Perotta was tired and it plainly showed. Firpo hit him with a left to the chin as he bent over just before the bell sounded.

Round 8.—They went into a clinch, broke and Perotta started to weave again and when Firpo forced him to the ropes he bounded back with a hard left hook to the stomach. Firpo sent a right to the heart. They exchanged left jabs. Perotta hit low on Firpo's right leg and took a left jab to the face. He was wild with his swings. Perotta sent a low right to Firpo who remarked "Oh." The referee shoved them apart and they started to fight. Perotta was driven back with right and left. Firpo whipped half a dozen rights to the stomach and Perotta held on. Perotta sent right to the chin and Firpo sent two to the jaw.

Commissioner Boyle told Referee Chip that Perotta sent in a low blow and if he did it again he would not be paid. Perotta said that he did not mean it. "I saw the blow," said Commissioner Boyle. He ordered Chip to stop the fight if another low blow was delivered.

Round 9.—They fought for the head and body as they sailed into each other. They landed rights to the head and fought to the body. Perotta put Firpo on the ropes and landed half a dozen rights and lefts to the body. Firpo measured him off and sent a right to the jaw. Perotta's right to the jaw landed back of the ear. The crowd was wild. Firpo landed a left to the head. They exchanged lefts to the head. Firpo sent a right and left to the head. Perotta landed a right to the chin and Firpo sent a right to the stomach in the clinch. Perotta carried the fight to Firpo but Firpo came back with a right to the head. They milled at close quarters. Perotta hit Firpo with a right to the chin when he rushed. They were battling toe to toe in the center of the ring and the applause and cheers was deadening.

Round 10.—They appeared fresh and Perotta was first to land with a left hook to the stomach. Firpo carried him across the ring with right and left to the body. Firpo sent a right to the stomach. Perotta sent two left hooks to the head. Firpo met Perotta with a right as he came in and took the aggressive away from Perotta but he was wild. Firpo nailed Perotta on the chin. He was sending both fists to the stomach as Perotta rushed in. Perotta clipped him on the jaw with a right to the chin. Firpo jabbed to the head. Firpo forced Perotta off balance with a light left to the chin. Blood was showing on George's mouth again. Perotta sent a right to the stomach. They milled at close range and Firpo sent a right to the kidney. They worked hard again in the clinches and Perotta followed with two hard rights to the head at the bell.

The decision was given to Firpo amid a roar of applause.

NEW YORK, July 31.—It may or may not be significant that, while Gene Tunney was supposed to be preparing today the valedictory of his professional career, his withdrawal from the sport that elevated him from the status of obscure clerk to a position of international significance, Tex Rickard was quietly setting his plans to match Tunney with Jack Sharkey for the heavyweight championship next September. Rickard admitted that this was his intention and intimated that he had good reason to believe it could be carried through.

"Don't forget Tunney is signed with me for next year," Rickard said. "He signed that contract only two weeks ago and, at the time, he assured me that he would be ready to defend the title, provided I could develop a challenger who figured to give him a real fight that puts it up to me and I'm going to try to come through."

Rickard dined with Tunney and Bernard Gimbel on Sunday but had nothing to say about what transpired. The fact, however, that he felt optimistic enough today to discuss a Tunney fight for 1929 indicated that their dialogue was not altogether of a discouraging nature.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

Says Heavyweight Champion Tunney,
"Why do all the folk think it funney
Because I crave books
Over left jabs and hooks
And rush to the bank with my munney?"

By NORMAN E. BROWN
Sports Writer for Central Press and New Castle News

Now that the tumult over the recent heavyweight title bout has died down, fans are asking many questions. Here are some of them and as much of an answer as can be given.

What does the future hold for Tunney?

Unknown.

A walking trip through Europe is to consume several months. Ray Campbell, Cleveland sport writer, close friend and warm admirer of Tunney, insists that the champion fought his last fight the other night against Heeney. That he will never re-enter the ring. That this decision was made before the battle with the Britisher. Disputing this belief is the lure of another purse of a quarter or third of a million dollars some time in the not too distant future.

What will the fans get meanwhile in the line of heavyweight affairs?

Little of importance.

Heeney has met Sharkey, Risko, Paolino and the like. His admirable showing (at least as far as gameness is concerned) against Tunney will make him a drawing card, but not with any of these boys as opponents. And who else is there?

What chance would Risko (for instance) have had against Tunney, instead of Heeney against the champ?

Hard to figure. But the manner in which Tunney outclassed Heeney in boxing and held his own in slugging, and the comparison of Heeney with Risko does not give the Clevelander much of a chance.

What about the effect of the fight on the big purse era?

The poor attendance at the fight and the general lack of interest in it, compared to that evidenced in other title battles, indicates that the public has once more come back to sanity—as it always has periodically after standing for the "bunk" just so long.

Tex Rickard probably realizes better than anyone else that the promoters, managers and fighters have overplayed their hands. It will take a long time to promote another million-dollar gate.

* * *

Tom Heeney, in defeat, has probably done more than anyone else has in years for the boxing game. By the very courageousness of his attack—in the face of sure and decisive defeat—he has lifted British boxing to a higher plane than it has clung to in a quarter of a century.

His showing against Tunney will arouse Britain from its lethargy and the ultimate result of this revival will be a better brand of boxers in the British Isles and their eventful appearance, of course, in the U. S.

The Old-Timer Who Came Back

By QUIN HALL.

WHILE there is still some distance to go, it looks right now as if the St. Louis Cardinals had as good a chance to cop the National League race as any team in the circuit—a better chance than any if you're to flop an ear to the mutterings of the fans, who take their baseball straight.

And if the Cards don't come galloping in ahead they will at least have made a noble effort. And that's always worth cheering over.

Standing out among the reasons for the Cardinals' success, like a rose in a weed patch, is a gray-haired little fellow named Maranville. Yep, the same one. His folks christened him Walter James Vincent Maranville, but the fans nicknamed him "Rabbit."

Maranville is one of baseball's bad boys, but he has certainly come back strong this season in St. Louis. He's been a tower of strength to the Cards and he's filled up the gap at shortstop and made the infield one of the tightest in the game.

It has been said of the Rabbit that he can exert a great influence over an entire ball club—either bad or good—and this year it has been all good. He stepped into the shortstop job when Tommy Thevenow weakened and Lester Bell had to be traded. When they pass around the medals in St. Louis at the close of this season they'll most certainly pin one on Maranville.

Maranville has had a brilliant and an erratic career. He broke into organized baseball seventeen years ago with the New Bedford club in the New England League. Two seasons later he was grabbed by the Boston Braves and two years later helped the Bucks win the league flag and the Worlds Series from the Athletics. In 1920 Maranville went to the Pittsburgh Pirates on a trade, the Braves swapping him for three players and $15,000 which was considered a big deal in those days. In 1924 he was traded to the Chicago Cubs and the next year the Cubs made him manager, thinking that perhaps the added responsibility of piloting a club would keep him out of mischief. The experience was a fizzle and Maranville landed in Brooklyn. From there he drifted to the minors and entirely out of the picture.

This Spring Rabbit came busting back full of good resolutions and lots of pep. His fielding and batting eye seemed undimmed and he has made a come-back which will go down in the history of the national pastime as a real one. And every fan in the country is pulling for the old-timer to keep in the middle of the road.

Despite the fact that he was sometimes a bad actor, the Rabbit always was a ball player. Right now at the age of thirty-five and regardless of his diminutive stature he covers ground like a youthful star who is just breaking in under the expansive canopy.

The rejuvenated Maranville most certainly helped put the spark in the Cardinal team right at the time when that spark was needed badly. That was when the St. Louis club made its first strike for the pennant in June, when things were the hottest and the Cincinnati Reds were leading the procession.

And if the Cards do cop the bunting and square off with the Yankees in the big series the Rabbit will have surely made his comeback complete.

Britain's Great Trio

By Feg Murray

Abrahams, Liddell, Lowe—what a track triumvirate! What speed, power, brains and strength are here in these three mighty runners! Great Britain won't forget them for a long time, and neither will America! They were Britain's best in 1924 in the Olympic games in Paris, and one of the three, Douglas Lowe, is still a much feared runner, whom Lloyd Hahn will have to beat in order to win the 800 meters at Amsterdam.

Harold Abrahams and Eric Littell are out of it this year. Abrahams is captain of the British Olympic team, but owing to an injury to his leg and illness that followed it, it has been assumed for a long time that he could not compete in 1928. Eric Liddell, the Scotch minister who will not compete on Sunday and therefore withdrew from the 200 meters, in which he was one of the favorites, and who scored a surprising victory in the 400 meters four years ago, is a missionary in the Far East, so I am told, and did not come back to try for the team.

But Douglas G. A. Lowe, one of the finest runners, finest sportsmen and handsomest athletes that ever put on a spiked shoe, will be there giving the best he has for dear old England, and his best, it might be added, is plenty good.

In 1924 Abrahams beat our own Jackson Scholz, Chester Bowman and Charley Paddock in the 100 meters; Liddell beat the best in the world in the 400 meters, setting a new Olympic record of 47.6 seconds; while Lowe defeated Martin of Switzerland; Enk of the United States, and Stallard of Great Britain in the 800 meters.

Cochet Hailed Great Player

First Time In Career Of Davis Cup Play That Tilden Suffers Straight Defeat

FRANCE RETAINS CUP FOR YEAR

(International News Service)

PARIS, July 31.—Henri Cochet was hailed today as one of the greatest tennis players of all time as the result of his brilliant efforts in the challenge round for the Davis cup, in which France turned back the United State, four matches to one.

Almost singlehanded the wiry little Frenchman thwarted America's hopes. In the first day's play he defeated Johnny Hennessey with ease. Paired with Jean Borotra in the doubles, he shone brilliantly in the defeat of "Big Bill" Tilden and Francis T. Hunter. And then, in a final burst of brilliance, he handed Tilden the first straight set defeat the tall American ever suffered in nine years of Davis Cup play.

America's only victory came when Tilden rose to the heights to defeat Rene Lacoste. Hennessey suffered defeat twice, at the hands of Cochet in the first day's play and again yesterday when he played Lacoste.

Hennessey, however, gave a good account of himself. He and George Lott of Chicago, who did not play in the challenge round, probably will form the nucleus of America's Davis Cup team next year, Tilden's retirement in the near future being regarded as certain.

Charleroi club officials denied that the Red Legs were trying to purchase the locals.

Charleroi is at present leading the league, the other clubs of which are Jeannette, Johnstown, Scottdale, Wheeling, Clarksburg and Cumberland.

Loughran Wants Bout With Gene

(International News Service)

WILDWOOD, N. J., July 31.—"If Gene Tunney quits he will be the third champion I have chased from the ring. Should he default his title, he will be doing what Paul Berlenbach and Jack Delaney did, give up their crowns rather than meet me for the title," declared Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia, light-heavyweight champion, today.

The light-heavyweight titleholder who is vacationing here, pointed out his record against the present crop of heavyweight contenders as justification for him claiming the throne if vacated by Tunney.

New Castle O. P. Needs Support

Will Play Havana Red Sox Here Next Saturday Afternoon

GETTING READY FOR HAID BOOSTER DAY

Every man and woman in the town who likes baseball should turn out next Saturday to see the New Castle baseball club play the Havana Red Sox, a fast Cuban team.

The New Castle baseball club has taken many blows financially and needs the support of fandom.

It is said that if a man is a sportsman he will like and help sports, so turn out and give the New Castle ball team a lift.

There is no question but that the alert George Textor has the best team that has played here for many years and the boys who built the park have a big investment.

Let's make Saturday a sort of loyalty day to the New Castle baseball club.

Tickets for the "Had" Haid booster day, which will be held by New Castle fans August 10 are in possession of Alec Samuels and the Sporting Goods store attaches.

Harold is the only New Castle boy to make the big "riffle" in the last few years and is pitching for the Cardinals, now in the heat of a National league pennant race.

The fans who purchase tickets will journey to Forbes field, Pittsburgh, and Bill McKechnie, manager of the Cardinals, may use Haid against the Pirates though this has not yet been decided.

Croton Defeats Cen. Christians

Croton M. E. downed the Central Christians last night at the Croton field by a score of 2 to 0. The game was one of the best played this year at the Croton field and was witnessed by a fair-sized crowd.

Blaine and Shiek hooked up in a hurling duel, with the former having a little the better of the argument, allowing four hits and fanning seven men. Shiek was found for a quartet of hits and fanned three men. Croton won the game by bunching hits in the second and fifth chapters. Ross had the only extra base hit of the battle.

Sportraits

BRUCE CALDWELL

Bruce Caldwell, former Yale grid star and all-around athlete, hopes to emulate Larry Bettencourt, former St. Mary's star.

Bettencourt, named an all-American because of his brilliant play with St. Mary's football team last fall, stepped into the lineup of the St. Louis Browns this season and proceeded to show up a lot of major league veterans. Caldwell, now with the Cleveland Indians, hopes to make a go of it, at least, in his first season.

A number of big league clubs bid for Caldwell's services, but he selected Cleveland from the lot, probably because it was pointed out to him he had a better chance to break in at first base there than with any other club.

He has already been given opportunities to show his wares and has made a favorable impression. Manager Peckinpaugh predicts a brilliant future for the gridiron hero.

If evolution works we hope to live until Nature produces a pedestrian who can jump three ways at once.

Ah, well the business of outlawing war is progressing as well as the business of warring on outlaws.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 31.—Uneasiness over the call loan situation and the loss of control over speculative borrowings by the New York banks caused reactionary price movements in a number of the industrial stock favorites at the beginning of trading today. It was thought that withdrawals of money throughout the day, in preparation for the August settlements would be in large volume, handicapping forward movements in the stock market. The renewal call loan rate was 6 per cent.

Consummation of the Dodge-Chrysler merger was announced after the close of yesterday's market, but a last-minute stock market coup, in which 10,000 shares of Dodge preference were purchased for the Chrysler interests, was necessary to secure a 90 per cent approval of the merger. This explains the recent strength of the Dodge preference stock over other classes of motor stocks involved in the merger.

Most of the motor shares slumped off to slightly lower price levels in the first hour. Both the Dodge and the Chrysler shares declined on profit-taking, Studebaker lost about a point, while the Pierce Arrow issues and Hupp rose fractionally.

The steel stocks were under selling pressure in this period as the result of unfavorable forecasts of second quarterly earnings of the U. S. Steel Corporation. The report will be issued after the close of business today.

Strength and activity of Atlantic Refining Company Common, above 151, was the feature of the oils. This stock is said to be under accumulation by the Fishers and other powerful capitalists, with liquidation coming from the Rockefeller interests. Mercantile stocks continued to move forward under the lead of Sears Roebuck. Copper stocks were firm and rails inactive.

Over 4,500 Guardsmen In Summer Camp Take Part In Rigid Training

SHAM BATTLES QUITE POPULAR

(International News Service)

CAMP HENDERSON, MOUNT GRETNA, Pa., July 31.—With airplanes flying overhead and the sharp crack of rifles, pistols and machine guns heard in practically every section of the encampment the 4,500 guardsmen encamped here under the command of Major General William G. Price, Jr., today continued their varied training schedule.

Colonel J. Sidney Ownes, commander of the 103rd observation squadron, the air force of the Pennsylvania National Guard, received orders to operate with the 213th Coast Artillery, anti-aircraft force, under Colonel Clarence J. Smith, of Allentown. The two units will cooperate in a number of problems during the encampment.

Stage Combats.

Battalions of the 112th Infantry, of western Pennsylvania, under Colonel C. Blaine Smathers, of Grove City, continued with squad, platoon and company combat problems, firing on an enemy represented by disappearing targets.

Other battalions of the 111th Infantry, of Philadelphia and vicinity under Colonel Charles B. Finley, the 103rd Engineers under Colonel Jackson W. Study, and the medical and special troops fired on the pistol, rifle and machine gun ranges and practiced with the bayonet and hand grenades.

Major General Price, commander of the 28th Division, returned here last night from an inspection tour of the 53rd Field Artillery Brigade encamped at Tobyhanna under the command of Brigadier General William S. McLean, of Wilkes-Barre.

Physicians are demanding higher fees and it won't be long until they will get as much for a trip as a tixi driver does.

Doomed, Pal Flees

As Lawrence Mabrey, 18, sits in his cell at Sedalia, Mo., awaiting death on the gallows for the fatal shooting of William Busch, 23, authorities have been searching for his pal, Ellis Collins, who was given a life sentence for the same crime. Collins escaped from Saline county jail at Marshall, Mo., with five other boys. Collins is at top, above, and Mabrey below.

Obregon Slayer Says He Acted Alone In Crime

(International News Service)

MEXICO CITY, July 31.—Although Jose Leon Toral, the 27-year-old fanatic who assassinated President-Elect Alvaro Obregon, declared that he had acted alone and that the Catholic church or labor party was not implicated. The police today continued with vigor their investigation.

Police efforts were spurred by the statements made by Toral in his confession indicating that a plot existed against the life of President Calles.

The police questioned a number of Catholic nuns, including Conception Acebedo De La Lata, as to whether they had any conversation with the self-confessed assassin before Gen. Obregon was shot. Among the prisoners taken since the shooting are between 15 and 20 nuns, there are about 22 men prisoners.

Concepcion Acebedo De La Lata was alleged to have made a statement in the presence of Toral which may have influenced the young slayer.

Here's Claim To Corn Championship

The season for roasting ears is a little later than usual this year, owing to the difficult corn growing weather in this section of the country this year and few, people as yet are even making claims to having roasting ears.

Harry J. Brown of 817 Fulkerson street, is the first persons in this city, to report having had roasting ears from his garden this year. Apparently he has the right to be designated as the champion corn grower of the city.

There may be others, who have had roasting ears from their gardens this season, but as yet they have not presented their claims as has Mr. Brown.

Lions Club Hears Of New Projects

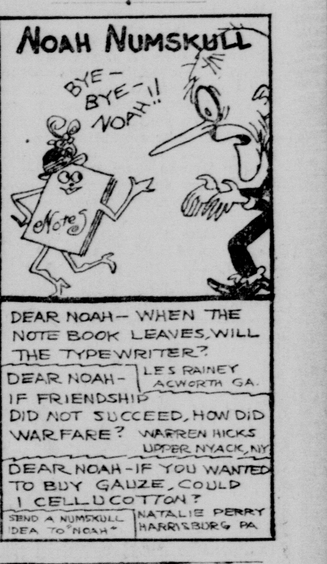

Noon Hour Meeting Is One Of Most Enjoyable Of Summer

Several matters of interest to the members of the New Castle Lions club were discussed at the noon meeting of the local organization, held at the Elks club today.

The entertainment committee was responsible for the enjoyable program that was presented by Miss Nellie Brady, teacher of dancing, and her youthful student, Miss Maxine Bollard. Miss Brady accompanied Lion Paul Welsh, in leading his brother Lions in pep singing, while Miss Bollard displayed unusual ability as a dancer in the numbers she presented.

Lion Ed. Wilson reported to the club what progress has been made by Paul Welsh himself in regard to the proposed community golf proposition. Lions Welsh and Wilson represented the club in the matter.

Lion Anthony Marino then told the members of the new technical school for boys that is being established by General Motors, and told them that there were 50 openings for boys interested in this work in the new school, of the attendance committee of the club, told the Lions that the committee will launch something of importance in the near future, but thought it wouldn't be well to announce it at the meeting today.

Widow Of One-Time Millionaire Dies Poverty Stricken

Mrs. Maude Truby Karns, 84, Succumbs To Injuries; Hit By Street Car

Widow Of Former Eccentric Oil Man Lives Humbly In Reclining Years

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 31.—Mrs. Maude Truby Karns, 84, descendant of a famed Western Pennsylvania family and widow of Western Pennsylvnia's most colorful millionaire oil magnate, who spent her reclining years in a humble room with memories of "other days" and in walking alone through the streets of Pittsburgh is on another, longer journey today.

The aged lady, who reveled in the sights and sounds of the city where once she lived in splendor, was killed when she steped in front of a streetcar as she attempted to walk alone across the street.

Death is Mourned.

Neigrbors whom Mrs. Karns had regaled with the stories of her "other days were shocked and today mourned her death.

Mrs. Karns since the days when her husband, Samuel D. or "Old S. D." as he was known won and lost fortunes in Western Pennsylvania oil has been living in a room on the North Side. It was there that she quietly spent her aging days reminiscing of her days at "Glen Karn" the princely mansion erected when the Karns fortune was at its height and which was bought by Andrew Carnegie when the Karn fortune was at its ebb.

Since those days when "Old S. D." carelessly and gaily lit his cigars with $20 bills the aged widow has been living frugally, making her own dresses, cooking her own meals and walking her own way.

Pioneer Family.

Mrs. Karns came from a proud and distinguished pioneer family of Western Pennsylvania a family which boasts of two generals in the Revolutionary war. In her younger days Mrs. Karns travelled Europe and knew it in its 19th century atmposhpere. She was in Paris when it was seiged in 1871.

After the Karns fortune crashed about 20 years ago and her husband died while he was on his way to Arizona to recoup his fortunes in the gold field, Mrs. Karns has been "making her own way" as she called it.

She died in the Allegheny hospital yesterday two hours after she was struck by the street car. Her skull had been fractured.

No Milk Price Increase Here

There will be no increase in the price of milk in the city of New Castle Wednesday by the Rieck-McJunkin Dairy Co. according to the statement of Henry M. Goldberg, manager, this morning.

Despite the fact that the price of milk has been raised throughout the Pittsburgh district, there will be no effect in this city, said Mr. Goldberg, unless farmers who produce the milk refuse to sell for the same price that has been in operation for some time.

This same price holds good only for this city. In some other points that the Rieck-McJunkin delivers milk products, the price will be raised to the Pittsburgh standard.

Ex-Opera Star Sued

Mrs. Hester Stiles, above, wife of the former grand opera singer, Vernon Stiles, below, has filed suit for divorce in a Los Angeles, Cal., court, charging him with cruelty and misconduct. She has also filed a suit for $250,000 damages against Mrs. Eloise MacGinnis, wife of a wealthy Montana mining man, alleging alienation of affections.

Chase "Cooties" From City Jail

With the help of Tom Buxton, who was a member of the mayor's class this morning, charged with being drunk and disorderly, the city jail will be thoroughly cleaned. No longer will the county officials have any grounds on which to base their statements that the city prisoners got cooties in the city jail.

This morning with fire, water and chemicals each cell was cleaned. Now it is safe for almost anyone.

Star Of Wales To Name Officers

Annual Election On Saturday Evening; News Of Welsh Folks

By W. A. JOHNS
(Brython)

Election of officers for the Star of Wales lodge, No. 60, True Ivorites of America, will be held when the organization meets Saturday evening, Aug. 4. The first degree of the order will also be given to two new members, George Anthony and Harry Evans, at this meeting. As this will be the last gathering of the lodge before the annual convention of the order, which will be held this year at Bangor, Pa., Delegate Thomas D. Thomas of the New Castle order will receive some instructions for the meeting.

The body of our dear friend, Daniel G. Williams, was brought to New Castle from Youngstown for burial last Saturday, and interment was made at the Oak Park cemetery, where a large crowd of New Castle folks gathered at his grave for the final rites. Mr. Williams was well known in this city, having made his home with his late parents on Moravia street for some time. He worked for many years at the store of the late Mr. McKee on Mill street.

We were pleased to meet Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Reese of Granite City in New Castle this week. Mr. Reese formerly worked at the Shenango tin mill in this city, but left 19 years ago for the city in which he now resides. It was in that city that Mr. Reese met Miss Morgan, daughter of Prof. John Morgan, and now his wife. Tom is the brother of David Reese, who is making his home in California at the present time.

Miss Katherine Edwards, daughter of Tom Edwards of Pico, Cal., is spending part of her vacation in our city. She is visiting at the home of Mrs. John Beynor of the East Side. Miss Edwards attended the services at the Emmanuel Baptist church last Sunday and at that time honored the memory of her mother by presenting the church with a beautiful boquet of flowers.

Word has been received here from Mr. and Mrs. David T. Evans of South Mercer street to the effect that they have arrived safely at their home in Llansamlet, South Wales. They report that their dear people are in good health and that they are making their home with Mrs. John Thomas, the sister of Mr. Evans. They are arranging to return home in three months.

Bert Reed of Philadelphia has returned to his home after transacting some business in our city. While here he visited his mother and family.

The officers and members of the Emmanuel Baptist church are feeling very thankful to these churches and their pastors in connection with the farewell of Rev. Emrys Thomas. The First Congregational church and the Maitland church for their kindness and their Christian spirit in doing away with their evening service last Sunday, so that they could join with the Emmanuel congregation for Rev. Thomas' last sermon here. Rev. Thomas' message was a fine one.

Americanism Of Hoover Shown

Republicans Prepare To Combat Any Whispering Campaign On "Foreigner"

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Republican propagandists who play their trade both by voice and pen are poised for a brief but active campaign to prove that Herbert Hoover, the Republican presidential nominee, has emerged from his world experiences a better American than ever, should the charge of "foreigner" be hurled at him by the Democrats, it was disclosed here today.

While there appears to be no intention upon the part of Republican national committee heads to precipitate a debate it is asserted that they have prepared themselves to meet a challenge.

A vast fund of information has been drawn upon and compiled by skilled hands, it is understood. Party workers from various sections of the country have declared at headquarters, however, that Hoover's foreign residence no longer furnishes important campaign talk.

"That was all political prattle before the Kansas City convention and it fell so flat that I don't believe the Democrats will dare to seriously raise the matter," said one worker. "It might be used in a 'whispering campaign,' however."

The four principal arguments which may be hurled at critics are:—

1.—Hoover has stood with those fighting unconditional cancellation of foreign debts and has held them to be honorable loans which Europe should redeem.

2.—He was active in fighting the British rubber monopoly, and sponsored the Newton bill permitting American importers to combine to fight other foreign government monopolies of raw material.

3.—The department of commerce, under Hoover, expanded as never before in seeking foreign markets for American goods.

4.—Testimony that the Hoover, during their residence in London never were really in British high society, because they insisted on too many "queer" guests—scientists and others who did not mix well.

A new statement by Hoover on the tariff also is being pointed to. In answering an editorial request the recited new commerce department figures to show that the American workingman's purchasing power is far ahead of all other nations.

Never a Marcel Wave

By Edna Wallace Hopper

On the stage, in public and at private functions my hair always attracts. During my performances women never fail to ask the secret of my perfect wave and the youthful, lively sheen of my hair.

It is very simple. I wave my own hair. First I moisten it with my liquid hair-dress, Wave and Sheen. I use a comb to apply it. Then I carefully insert the combs. I tie a piece of chiffon over my head. By the time I am ready to complete my toilette the waves are in to stay.

A radiant sheen, free from stickiness, is the chief charm of this simple method. Wave and Sheen is the only dressing I would use on my hair. It is the only preparation I know that does not give the "plastered" effect, which I cannot tolerate. The hair, must have some air in order to be healthy and free from dandruff.

You can get a bottle of my Wave and Sheen at any toilet counter. It is guaranteed. 75 cents.

New Castle Lady Restored To New Health And Vigor

MRS. ANNA SPANISH
Seavy Photo

Health is the greatest asset we can possess. Without it life is uninteresting and we never seem to attain the utmost happiness we all strive so hard to acquire. Many of us go on from year to year with that half-sick feeling that comes from a rundown and disordered inner-system; complaining of aches and pains and remarking about the tired, drowsy feeling that comes over us so often. Since the introduction of the new Konjola medicine, many thousands of people throughout the Central States and Middle West have voluntarily offered strong words of praise for Konjola and hundreds of men and women have given their signed statements to the Konjola Man at the Love and Megown drug store, 204 East Washington street, this city, telling of the wonderful benefits they derived from this celebrated compound.

One of the latest to describe the new health received from Konjola is Mrs. Anna Spanish, Moore street, South New Castle Borough.

"I had been a sufferer for many years", said Mrs. Spanish, "first trying one thing and then another, before I ever knew there was a medicine like Konjola. But now since I have taken this compound it has ended all my troubles and restored new health to me.

"My whole system was badly rundown and most of my miseries were caused by a sluggish liver and disordered kidneys. These ailments gave me untold trouble and no matter what I took for relief, I continued to suffer. I think that these troubles were brought on by poisons and impurities in my blood. It never seemed to circulate in the proper manner and a peculiar numbness in my limbs was caused by this condition. Because of bladder trouble I had to rise several times every night and when I got up the next morning the first thing that I noticed would be a terrific pain in the small of my back that was almost unbearable. Finally I got so nervous most of the time and recently the least noise would upset me. There were pimples and skin eruptions on my face and body and in spite of everything that I did to correct this, they always came back.

"A friend of mine had been taking Konjola and has received amazing results from it. He advised me to give it a trial and so I started on the treatment. Before the first bottle was gone I began to feel better and I knew that this was the medicine for my case. My kidneys got stronger and now, I don't have to get up a single time during the night. Every ache and pain caused by them have been banished and I know that that ailment is permanently ended. Then Konjola regulated my liver and cleansed the poisons from my blood. Since Konjola did this the embarrassing skin eruptions have been cleared from my face and body. I have only taken four bottles of this medicine and yet, my health has improved one hundred percent. I am never nervous and my sleep is sound and refreshing.

"Konjola certainly is a wonderful medicine and I want to say once more that I am only too glad to indorse it to others".

The Konjola Man is at the Love and Megown drug store, 204 East Washington street, New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.
